Neumann Homes petitions for an additional 55 acres

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Neumann Homes is in the process of petitioning the Village of Antioch to annex an additional 55 acres of land that could allow for a possible addition of 114 homes to the already proposed 1,308, homes bringing the potential totals up to 1,422 homes on 689 acres.

An initial public hearing for the automatic E-1 zoning (the most restrictive zoning there is under state statute) to be held before the board of directors of the Village of Antioch at an Aug. 21 meeting was cancelled within three hours of the 7 p.m. meeting start time.

Village officials had been unhappy with some of the wording for the proposal and told Neumann Homes the annexation would not be considered without some revision. These revisions came late enough in the day of the meeting that there would not have been an appropriate amount of time for board members to review

Preserve approves land purchase

Tom Hahn, director of land preservation and special projects for the Lake County Forest Preserve, said the board of directors voted to purchase two properties with a combined 356 acres for upwards of $8.8 million. ## Catholic schools enrollment rising

Bricks, mortar and faith increasing in Catholic schools

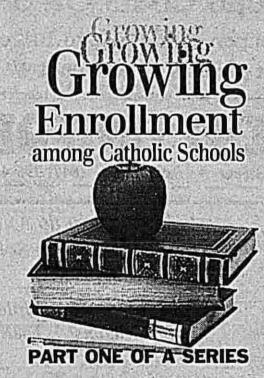

By SANDY HARTOGH Correspondent

Thy, if they have viable alternatives such as public schools, do people seek parochial education for their children?" pondered Sister Dawn Tomaszewski of the Archdiocese of Chicago's Office of Catholic Education.

The answers to that question are variable, depending on whom you ask, but the overall picture for Lake County remains the same. Since 1992, enrollments in the county's 22 Catholic schools have been steadily rising with an overall increase of 11.5 percent and a combined student population of almost 10,200. Although the growth does not even come close to the 123,500 students enrolled in Lake County public schools, these private institutions are faced with bulging classrooms and expansion as are the public schools.

"We are undergoing a steadily growing process of expansion due to the fact that our enrollment keeps increasing," stated Sister Elaine Skrzypczynski, principal of St. Gilbert Catholic School in Grayslake.

With expected student enrollment to be around 670 this year, St. Gilbert ranks as the fourth largest Catholic elementary school in the county. It experienced one of the highest jumps countywide last year with a 7.5 percent increase in its student body. Skrzypczynski noted the school's growth has resulted in the need for three classes of grades K-8 or triple streaming. Just a couple of years ago, part of the parish convent was converted to classrooms to accommodate the third group of kindergarten through fifth grade classes. Now, another addition is currently being built to house the third group of sixth through eighth grade classes along with an art room and music room.

"Our students get art a la carte via a teacher who travels from room to room, and music in the church," explained Skrzypczynski who hopes to see the addition completed by next Spring.

Despite the additions, St. Gilbert still has a waiting list for some grades, particularly kindergarten. As with all Catholic schools, the parishioners are served first, but many non-parishioners comprise those lists as well.

"I believe there is an increased interest in Catholic schools because of the situation of the world," said Skrzypczynski. "There is a commitment by a lot of people to look again at where society is going. It's scary because we don't know what we're leaving behind for the next generation."

Tomaszewski shared the sentiment, noting there are certain times in the life of a community where values change. As an example, she pointed out that Catholic school

Grand debut

Brook Wetland, Entertainment Center opening scheduled

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Nearly a month behind schedule as the result of uncooperative weather, the William E. Brook Memorial Wetland and Entertainment Center grand opening is set to take place with a big band boom on Sept. 9 at 3:30 p.m.

Environment specialist Dr. John Larson of Applied Ecological Services will begin by giving residents a tour of the wetland area via the boardwalk. During the tour, he will provide information about the local ecology special features of the wetland.

Community development director Claude LeMere said, "He (Larson) is a wonderful resource for the Village of Antioch, and we go to him whenever we have a question or concern of an ecological nature."

The official ribbon cutting for the wetland sanctuary will take place at 5:30 p.m.

The sounds of the Lakes Area Community Big Band can be heard at 5:45 p.m. as the band heads up the day's musical extravaganza in the entertainment center.

A half dozen or so speakers including Mayor Marilyn Shineflug, Dan Dugenske who was the fundraising chairman for the memorial, former trustee and director of the Community Choir Mabel Lou Weber and others will speak in a quick-moving, emotional ceremony with music being played between each

In addition to the big band, the Lakes Area Community Band, the Antioch Community Choir and special guest soloist Jennifer Beal will provide entertainment. The Grease Band from St. Peter's church will provide the rest of the evening's entertainment.

This will be the first time residents have an opportunity to hear the sound system that requires the building to carry 800 amp service. According to LeMere, the transformer is the same size as it would be for an industrial building.

Also being unveiled at the grand opening ceremony are the 32 informational standards signs for the wetland area. LeMere said, "We've worked very hard on those signs, and I want to make sure they look perfect for the opening day."

Dale Lambert, a college student who worked for LeMere over the summer, wrote the verbiage for the signs. The signs identify and define different features of the wetland.

As with all other aspects of the memorial, village officials have carefully thought out the seating around the entertainment center to accommodate as many residents as possible while making sure that everyone has a clear view. According to LeMere, the area should accommodate about 3,000 people.

We have visited a lot of municipalities where concerts are given, and we have chosen a four-tier seating plan," said LeMere. "The goal is for everybody to be able to have a nice place to sit."

The grassy area immediately in front of the stage has been established for blanketseating only, i.e. no chairs.

Skidmore Dr. runs directly behind that area, and the village will supply chairs to this area for senior citizens and those who are handicapped. Seating is reserved in this area for those citizens until 15 minutes before performance time. At that time, the general public may sit in empty seats.

The grassy hill behind Skidmore Dr. will also be for blanket seating only. The ridge of the hill is reserved for those who wish to bring their own lawn chairs.

"We want to get the word out about the seating," said LeMere. "That way, there won't be problems and everyone will be able to see the stage."

This project has been built as a cooperative effort of largely donated funds, materials and labor. Even the brick walk leading to the wetlands raised $50,000 toward the project as both individuals and companies purchased the bricks used in the walk for anywhere between $50 and $750.

"People have just opened their hearts to us," said LeMere. "This memorial is really a wonderful thing."

the changes.

Parenthetically, at the July 27 meeting before the combined planning and zoning board meeting, developer Ken Neumann indicated that he was interested in donating the 55 acres to the Antioch Elementary Dist. 34 for a new

Concerned residents questioned why the annexation proposal makes no mention of the donation of land for a school.

Village administrator Tim Wells said, "To my knowledge, Neumann is in discussions with the new administration about what is to be done, but no conclusions have been reached. It is also my understanding that a public school can be built on any land no matter how it is zoned, but Bob Silhan (director of planning and zoning for the Village of Antioch) could tell you that for sure."

Silhan confirmed that if Neumann Homes were to annex the 55 acres into the village under E-1 zoning, nothing would have to be re-zoned to accommodate building a public school. He said, "Public schools do not have to follow the municipal zoning or building requirements, because they are closely monitored by the state. As a municipality, we do not have the right to tell a public school what or how it must do

According to Wells, part of the interest in annexing this property on the part of Neumann Homes is that the development has moved its proposed entrance out of the most sensitive wetland areas at Rte. 173 to Savage Rd. Annexing this property would take the maintenance responsibilities away from Antioch Township and make them the concern of the village. In turn, the village would require Neumann Homes to pay for the road improvements on Savage Rd. to bring the road up to village requirements.

Though Wells was among the village officials unhappy about the wording of the proposal and the late date that Neumann Homes sent revisions back to the Village of Antioch, he also favored postponing the meeting until a date closer to the Sept. 21 combined planning and zoning board meeting where the primary Neumann Homes development discussions will continue.

He said, "There is no need to annex in this additional 55 acres if the main proposal doesn't go through. The village would rather have the township maintain responsibility for Savage Rd. if Neumann Homes wouldn't be paying for the improvements to Savage Rd.'

School lunch program set for Dist. 117

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Antioch Community High School Dist. 117 announced its policy for free milk and/or meals for those students unable to pay under the Illinois Free Lunch and Breakfast and Special Milk Programs.

Income for a household of two must be under $14,625 per year or under $1,219 a month. For a household of four those numbers increase to $22,165 and $$1,848 respectively.

Those eligible must complete applications, that are being sent to all households with children, sign and return them to the school as soon as possible. An application that does not contain all of the required information cannot be processed and approved by the school.

Households that currently receive food stamps or Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) only have to list the children's names and the food stamp or TANF case number, and sign the application.

In households with incomes below the level shown on the income scale, children are eligible for free or reduced-price milk and or meals.

The school or other officials may verify the information on the application at any time during the school year.

If approved, households must notify the school if their income increases by $50 or more per month, or if their household size decreases. If households receives food stamps or TANF, they must tell the school when they no longer receive this benefit.

Likewise, households may apply for the benefit at any time during the school year. Households that are not eligible now, but have a decrease in household income, or an increase in household size, or have a household member who becomes unemployed, should fill out an application at that time.

In certain cases foster children are eligible for free milk or meals regardless of household

Those dissatisfied with the ruling of the official may discuss it with the school. Households have a right to a fair hearing. This can be done by contacting William Ahlers, business manager for ACHS.

Copies of the application are available in the principal's office.

Three meetings cancelled, rescheduled

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Within two business days of each other, three meetings have been cancelled and rescheduled in the Village of Antioch.

The first was a special combined planning and zoning board meeting to hear the continuation of the zoning change request on 134 acres of land owned by Donald and Kevin Boylan along Grimm Rd. The meeting had been scheduled for Aug. 17 at 7:30 p.m., but had been cancelled after 4 p.m. on the same day at the Boylan's request. The Boylan's attorney John Stephens faxed a letter to Bob Silhan, director of planning and zoning for the village that was marked received at 4:10 p.m. In the note the attorneyapologized for the late notice and said, "We were under the mistaken impression that this matter was to be continued until the board's September hearing. By this letter, we hereby request a continuance of this matter until the September hearing.'

Silhan hand wrote a notation, posted on the doors of Village Hall, that said September not (underscored for emphasis) available.

The Boylan's initial meeting on this matter was fraught with problems as notification irregularities caused the need for this continuation in the first place. It is the Boylan's hope that rezoning will allow them to sell the property to be used commercially for a "big box" development such as a Home Depot or Wal-Mart.

The second meeting cancelled was the board of local improvement meeting that was to be held at 6:30 p.m. on Aug. 21, and was also cancelled on the same day it was to be held. The purpose of this meeting was to get things moving to provide water and sewer lines to the Anest (where the Neumann Homes development is proposed) and Deercrest properties.

This meeting has been rescheduled for Sept. 18 at 7 p.m.

Had the board approved a resolution to condemn small portions of a few properties along Rte. 173 for water lines to be placed, there was a tentative public hearing date set for Sept. 5 at 7 p.m. This tentative meeting will not take place as it is now prior to the date set for the possible resolution.

- The third meeting cancellation was a 7 p.m. public hearing, also scheduled for Aug. 21 regarding the annexation of an additional 55 acres by Neumann Homes adjacent to the Anest property that Neumann Homes hopes to develop. As with the other two, this meeting was cancelled just hours prior to when it was to be held. It has been rescheduled for Sept. 18 at 6:30 p.m.

Silhan had been unhappy about some of the wording of the proposed annexation agreement, and had requested it be changed before the agreement would be considered.

He said, "There was more in the agreement than needed to be there. It didn't follow our standard procedure. The revisions came in late Monday afternoon, and others (the village board members) would not have had time to review the changes."

Village administrator Tim Wells said, "It was at our request that Neumann Homes requested that the hearing be rescheduled. I didn't think it would be fair for the board to have go through the process without having ample time to review the ma-

Resident Marianne Guy called the village the afternoon of the 21st, and found out about the cancellations. She called 22 of her neighbors to notify them of the cancellation.

She said, "(Village) board member Dorothy Larson was very upset that the meeting had to be cancelled at the last minute. She said it just like Nancy Binder (planning and zoning board member) had at the plan commission meeting: Neumann Homes is inconsiderate to the board and to the residents who care about this issue. I thanked her (Larson) for her comments."

Guy added, "The developer seems to think that postponing and canceling these meetings will make us (concerned residents) give up hope and lose interest. It won't."

In a closing thought Guy said, "I also don't see how there is going to be a public hearing for annexing another 55 acres to Neumann Homes that will happen in the half hour allotted in the Sept. 18 meeting. The annexation hearing is set for 6:30 p.m. and the resolution meeting by the board of local improvements is scheduled for 7 p.m. Both of those are to be followed by the regular board meeting."

Ginny has emphatically chosen her loyal companion and pup Sparky to be her running mate.

Ginny's platform is simple: never put empty milk containers back in the refrigerator, be nice to everyone-never discriminate, treat others as you would like to be treated, don't hurt people, floss, two wrongs don't make a right, it's okay not to be right all the time, learn from your mistakes and stop to smell the roses.

Pedersen GMC honored as retailer of the century

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

Antioch's own Pedersen GMC has been named Retailer of the 20th Century by the Illinois Retail Merchants Association (IRMA) along with 105 other companies from across the state.

'The retailers of the century represent all the good things about Illinois retailing through the last 100 years," said Illinois Retail Merchants Association president David Vite. "These stores have remarkable histories and have meant a lot to their communities and to the retail industry over the last century."

IRMA spokesman Peter Gill said, "This is an extension of retailers of the year. This year, with the new millennium, we are looking at companies and not just at individuals. We chose companies that have made a positive impact on their local economies."

Criteria for the award includes demonstrating leadership in the industry, showing dedication to the community, having served generations of customers and having made a positive impact on the local economy.

"Pedersen GMC has met all of the criteria," said Gill. "They've been in business since 1936, they have contributed to the sawmill, supported the Antioch Rescue Squad for decades, have been members of the Chamber of Commerce and they have received numerous GMC awards for customer service and excellence."

Dean Pedersen, who owns the business with his brothers Al and Dale and his cousin Gregg, said, "My great-grandfather started the business and sold Massey-Ferguson farm implements. My father Al Pedersen and my uncle Robert (Gregg's father) started us with GMC in 1949. We had our 50th anniversary as a GMC dealership a year ago."

State Rep. Timothy Osmond (R-Antioch) nominated Pedersen GMC for the award. The honor will be conferred at special luncheon on Sept. 26 at the Renaissance Hotel in Chicago.

Additionally, the businesses will be featured in a special commemorative book and through a special on-line exhibit at www.irma.org.

"Disney's An Extremely Goofy Movie"

oofy's second feature opens with the big dog wistfully sending his teenage son Max off to his freshman year of college. In short order, daydreaming Dad is fired and learns he's not employable without finishing his degree at—you guessed it—the same university his beloved "Maxie" attends. Soon the eager father is embarrassing the heck out of his son and curbing his independence.

At the same time, Max and his skateboarding buddles form an extreme sports team, challenging the snooty fraternity team captained by Bradley Uppercrust III, who doesn't grasp the concept of fair play. When things get rough, Goofy saves the dayand finds true love with a librarian who shares his '70s-era nostalgia. Any excuse to put Goofy in an afro wig and "Knock on Wood" and "Shake Your Groove Thing" on the soundtrack!

The 73-minute story is serviceable and the moral commendable (integrity wins in the end). Ages 3 and up will enjoy the antics, but a lot of the (harmless) college jokes are aimed at adults. Color, Animated, Digital Sound, Closed-captioned

There is a bonus program on the DVD "Kids' Goofiest Jokes," as well as Cleopatra's "Right Back Where We Started From" music video, "An Extremely Goofy Movie" interactive trivia game, "Me and My Dad" interactive read-along and DVD-ROM features: "Magic Artist" studio demo and Internet links to various Goofy and Disney web sites.

Now it's off to school we go

ell this is the week we have all been waiting for with baited breath. The school floors are freshly waxed and the walls newly painted. The backpacks, school supplies and gym clothes are all labeled; there's a shine on the school shoes and creases in the pant legs. The school year has finally begun and all the students are back at their desks with tanned faces and crisp new underwear. That loud rush of wind you heard was a welcomed sigh of relief from moms, happy that their offspring will now be well supervised for the better part of the day.

For working moms, it means no more fielding phone calls from the home front until after 3 p.m., no more worrying about what mischief your little darlings are causing, or what material they are being exposed to on the Internet or MTV.

For stay-at-home moms it means time to catch up on your soap operas, a quiet lunch with the girls, and maybe a little leisurely shopping at the mall-yea right. You know darn well it more than likely means attending room mom meetings, volunteering for lunchroom duty and picking up your sister-in-laws sick kid because she's on a business trip in Maui.

For those of us who have finally graduated to the phase in our life in which all our cherubs are now in school full-time, I say YIPPEE. Anybody who saw that short, dark haired lady galloping down the streets of Antioch this week, with her arms flung over head and joyous Yahoo's screeching across her lips, that was just me celebrating my new found freedom. I know some of you out there

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

had eyes welling with tears as the 8 a.m. bus pulled away holding your most precious cargo, but who are you kidding, by 8:07 a.m. the moment had passed.

For you moms of first graders, the tears you were shedding were ones of total envy. You wish it were you climbing on the bus so you didn't have to turn around and go back into the house where the siblings of Miss Off to School I go are redecorating the kitchen walls with their oatmeal and using their tooth brush on Fido. You know your day will now be filled with the repeated questions, "When is Susie gonna be home," and "why can't I take the bus to school, I'm big too?"

No, there were not any tears here as the last of our tax deductions headed off to first grade, sorry. Call me uncompassionate, call me a bad mommy, call me anything you like, just don't expect me to answer because I'm sure I'll be doing one of the self-indulging hobbies, like swimming at the health club, or taking a class on gourmet cooking. But more than likely I'll just be down in the basement doing the laundry and I won't hear the phone ring, so just leave a message.

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle."

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Why rush sewer and water?

This is regarding an August meeting of the Village Board of Antioch regarding implementation of sewer and water services.

My question is: Why is it necessary to rush the implementation of sewer and water when the Plan Commission has just begun to hear the Neumann Homes petition? The Public Hearing is scheduled for Sept. 21.

If the sewer and water is for the Deercrest subdivision, is Otto Sprenger willing to pay the entire cost of bringing both sewer and water to his property in the event the Anest property (Neumann Homes is the developer) is not developed? The Anest property may end up being developed by another developer with a very different arrangement.

We want to believe the Village that this density was not intended. It gets harder and harder to not think that the Village is just going through the motions of Public Hearings and protesting it's innocence and wasting our time-because the Village is determined that this will go through no matter what.

If the Village wants to decrease the density even in the current proposed plan, why is it so eager and willing to give so many variances? Cul de sacs more than twice the maximum length permitted in the zoning code; turning radii less than required in the zoning code. I believe there are reasons for the zoning code requirements: I believe they are SAFETY and ACCESS FOR EMERGENCY VEHICLES. Why do they not adhere to the code?

The Village could also use the wording in its own Comprehensive Plan to work out agreements to preserve the oak savannahs and the forest "during preliminary planning." And why are they willing to accept less than real preservation?

All of the Village's efforts are directed toward smoothing the way for the developer; there is no effort (other than "lip-service") to do what is best for the Village-or to represent the opinions of their ELECTORATE.

We would like to know why?

Ready to rumble!

nd just like that, with the blink of an eye, the summer's past and we thus enter into yet another exciting prep football season.

Should be interesting, with the new North Suburban realigned. Not to mention, it makes my job easier because of the simple fact that 10 of the 11 schools we cover will now play one another with regularity.

It certainly will be a big weekend indeed at Libertyville High School. On Tuesday, the Wildcats unveiled their new lights, which will be put into action August 25 when the gridiron season kicks off with Libertyville hosting New Trier at 7:30 p.m.

The following day will also serve as a momentous occasion as the new neighboring Vernon Hills High School will play its first-ever game, also at Libertyville High. VHHS' field is currently under construction and should be ready for play a short year from now.

And of course there will be a buzz around the campuses of Round Lake, Grant and Wauconda, all of whom enter into a new conference, their first affiliation in over four years, the NSC.

Over on O'Plaine Road, can the 'Road Warriors,' led by Ernest Sherman and Matt Hadsell, repeat a solid 7-4 1999 campaign? Don't forget about the versatile Matt Vandaele, who lit up the area last year, dashing for over 1,100 yards and 16 scores.

Grayslake, competing in the always-tough Fox Valley, lost several key players but seniors Eric Flanders, Sam Stahnke and Rusty Mayfield are just a couple of names that should more than pick up where quarterback Willie Wright

part of the FVC at 4-5 last year. North of the border, we have the Sequoits from Antioch, who stunned NSC champion Stevenson 42-35 in the season finale last year to earn a playoff berth. The Sequoits also lost key players such as rifleman Don Lackey and wideout Jim Richardson (both now at UW-Platteville), and Conrad Adkins on defense. But look for the White-to-White connection, as junior signal-caller Brandon will surely find brother, senior Eric, plenty of times this season. The rushing attack should be solid, with Mark Purnell serving as the primary work-

And Carmel will also test the waters of a new conference affiliation, moving from the Catholic Metro Green to the Catholic Metro White. Awaiting running back Eric Luna and the Corsairs will be Joliet Catholic, Bishop Mc-Namara and pre-season conference favorite Marian Catholic.

Also adding to what looks like the year of the rushing attack should be an improved Mundelein squad, led by tailbacks Josh Gruenewald and Darius Kennedy.

And back to Libertyville, the pre-season NSC favorites, look for big years from halfbacks Gerett Burl and Mike VerLee.

There might be some new faces and conferences, but one thing should and will remain constant-plenty of excitement in the world of Lake County high school football.

ACHS girls golf young but enthusiastic

It may have lost its opener but rest assured, the Antioch varsity girls golf team will be competetive this year.

"We're a little inexperienced so we'll have to be patient," said Head Coach Steve Wapon. "We lost some quality experience from last year but our underclassmen look very promising."

Speaking of underclassmen, sophomore Danielle Nielsen fired a 44 at Spring Valley Golf Course to take medalist honors in the 211-193 defeat to visiting Palatine Aug. 21. Backing her was junior Whitney Sehmer (49), and freshman Katie Malcolm (58) and Katie Lincoln (60.

North Suburban Conference has new teams, look

By JOHN PHELPS Sports Editor

"It's a great way to kick off the new conference," said Wauconda Athletic Director Jim LePage on the 1st Annual Student-Athlete Leadership Workshop held at Stevenson High School August 20-21.

Some 600 students gathered for the twoday workshop, which featured nationally known educator and motivational speaker, Michael Brandwein. The workshop focused on a blend of large group follow-up sessions led by coaches and student facilitators. The North Suburban Conference Administrators had initiated the workshop in an effort to help student-athletes understand the concepts of leadership.

Of course, LePage and the Bulldogs join forces with former independents Round Lake and Grant as part of the realigned North Suburban Conference.

While they once had homes, and let's call it, the Northwest Suburban Conference, this trio of schools from the western territory are about to experience that true home cookin' once again.

"We're extremely excited about having a conference affiliation once again," said Grant Athletic Director Frank Cittadino. "The parents and community have been very patient as well as supportive through the entire process."

And playing the role of independent for the past four years has been four years too long. Scheduling games was about as easy as finding a needle in a haystack.

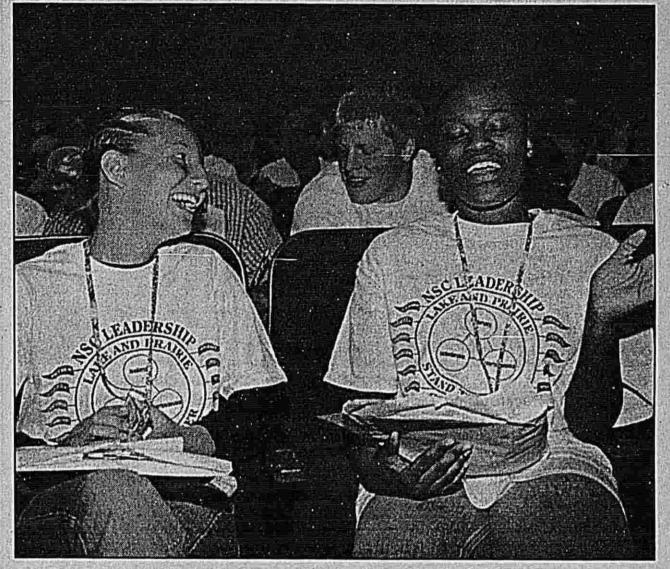

One man who understands the rigors of scheduling games as an independent school is current Libertyville High Principal and North Suburban Conference President, Dr. Joe Wojtena.

"I remember when I was the principal at Wauconda back in the 1980's," he recalled. "It was crazy trying to schedule games because we had no conference affiliation: So I understand their plight." Wojtena went on to say that talk of realigning the conference started taking shape about two years ago. "We wanted to make room for the three independents as well as our new school in Vernon Hills," he said. "It took about a year to iron out the details and last year, we invited Round Lake Wauconda, Grant and Vernon Hills to our (NSC) meetings when we started building the schedules. I know everyone involved is really excited."

The new North Suburban will consist of two divisions. The Lake Division will include the larger enrolled schools, including the likes of Warren, Stevenson, Libertyville, Lake Forest, Mundelein, and Antioch. Then you have the Prairie, which includes the smaller schools like Vernon Hills, Round Lake, Zion-Benton, Wauconda, Grant and North Chicago.

But for Round Lake, Wauconda and Grant, the days of traveling 2-3 hours to play a nonconference game just for the sake of keeping that competitive edge has come to an end.

Now they have something to strive for-a conference title, which is extremely important to these athletes.

And that competitive edge will also be on the fresher side of things because they are now they're where they belong-playing teams that are in neighboring communities and not somewhere 2-3 area codes away (i.e. Westosha, Wis. or the southside of Chicago).

At the new Vernon Hills, only freshman, sophomores and juniors will be attending this year. But the Cougars should make some waves, given that District 128 has developed an image for turning out some great talent over the years.

"We're very excited and had a great summer camp," said VHHS head football coach Tony Monken. "If we get everyone out that we're supposed to and we stay healthy, we'll be competitive."

While this is a new home in every sense of the word for the newest school to hit the Lake County scene, former independent Round Lake is doubly excited. A referendum passed last spring, allowing for a more promising outlook regarding athletics staying put at the home of Panther Pride.

"As each season ended last year, we got more excited because that means we're a step closer to the fall," said Athletic Director Jim Prorok. "Everyone associated with the NSC has been tremendous in welcoming us. It's a great 😁 class of people. The anticipation has also been terrific because it's like building from scratch."

With all of this in mind and seeing how the county has grown by leaps and bounds in recent years, it wouldn't be surprising to see the NSC re-align once again before we can blink. The idea has promise-just as Wauconda, Round Lake and Grant!

Area players shine for Kenosha Indians baseball

Several area standout baseball players are experiencing tremendous success on the diamond in life after high school.

Eric Brauer of Grayslake, Mundelein's Kyle Zaleski and John Bestler and Antioch's Jason Schuler all competed on the 18-and-under Kenosha Indians summer baseball team.

The Indians qualified for the National Amateur Baseball Federation World Series, held in Wilmington, Delaware the weekend of August 4-6, and the aforementioned prep stars played major roles. Zaleski, a standout pitcher who went 14-0 last spring for the Mustangs, fired a 2-hit gem with six strikeouts as the Indians blanked defending champion Bill Hood in the first-round. It marked the first time in three years that the Louisiana team had been shut out.

Kenosha got all of the runs it would need putting a two-spot on the board in the sixth. The Indians added an insurance run in the en-

Meanwhile, the defense was stellar. Behind the plate, Schuler thwarted a squeeze play and Bestler soon followed with a nifty play at short to keep the shutout intact.

In the next two games, the Indians beat the Long Island Tigers 6-1 and the Brooklyn Bon-

However, after two straight excellent pitching performances, the Indians allowed 23 runs against the West Virginia Barnstormers as the two teams set a tournament record for total runs scored in a game in the 23-18 slugfest semifinal game.

The Indians (40-7) closed out the season by winning 34 of their last 38 games.

"We had an outstanding performance in the entire tournament," said Lee Lundstrom, the team's manager. "And the Illinois players were the key to our team's success this year."

"Brauer was 7-1 for us on the mound and led the team in home runs with eight, Bestler hit .400 and was the catalyst for the infield at shortstop, Zaleski joined us at the end of the season and pitched two shutouts and Schuler was our number one catcher. He hit .330 with three home runs and over 50 RBI," said Lundstrom.

The Indians had qualified for the World Series after posting a 5-1 record in the eight-team, double-elimination NABF regional tourney in Fort Wayne, Ind. Pitchers Brauer and Zaleski recorded one-hitters during the six-game stretch. Offensively, Bestler batted over .500, including one round-tripper.

During the regionals, offense was not a question as Kenosha outscored its opponents 71-17 while compiling a team earned-run average of under 1.00.

Kerkman named new CLC coach

Former College of Lake County tennis star, Hall of Fame inductee and graduate, Nicole Kerkman, will be head coach of this year men and women's tennis team.

Kerkman was a member of the Skyway 1995-1997 women's championship team. She was a two-time undefeated state and Skyway Conference Champion. She also led her team to the NJCAA championships both years at CLC.

After Kerkman's success at CLC she carried on her tennis tradition and her education at the University of Illinois at Springfield where she was a two time regional champion, both in singles and doubles and led her team once again to the national tournament. She received her BA in Communication with a minor in English.

Kerkman's enthusiasm and competitive spirit should strike a sparkling note for CLC's tennis program. She anticipates both the men and women's tennis team will be a success and qualify once more for the national tournament. Any interested players should contact Coach

'Magic softball third at Rockford

Mother Nature then prevailed as the remainder of the 20-team tourney was rained out. A tiebreaker involving runs scored versus runs allowed produced a four-way tie for first with the final fourth places ultimately decided by drawing numbers.

The Magic ended the season with a record of 31-5, including a tournamenmt victory at the Milwaukee Invitational. The Magic also finished 12-0 to claim first-place in the North Suburban Fastpitch League. In tournament play, the Magic compiled a sparkling 16-5 mark.

Must be August; the heat is on at area race tracks

ugust brings increased heat, not only in the weather, but in championship battles on area race tracks as well.

Joe Roe of Pleasant Prarie, originally from Zion, leads the band of winged warriors from the J&L Oil/United Expressline Trailer Sales Interstates Racing Association (IRA) Outlaw Sprint Car Series into Wilmot Speedway on Saturday, August 26.

Roe holds a slim 3-point advantage over Raymond Hensley of Trevor, originally from Lake Villa, who is having a season of a lifetime. This will be the final 2000 IRA appearance at Wilmot for The After The County Fair Championships. IMCA Modifieds are on the program.

In an IRA doubleheader weekend Aug.
18-19, Roe had a second at The Raceway at Powercom Park in Beaver Dam on Friday and a fourth at Sheboygan County Fair Park Speedway in Plymouth on Saturday. Hensley finished third and second, respectively.

Kurt Winker of Pleasant Prarie, who began his racing career in modifieds at Wilmot seven years ago and won his first ever IRA feature at Wilmot, won the Plymouth main event. A muffler, which fell off during the feature at Powercom, cost Winker a third-place finish as he was put back in the final finishing order due to being disqualified.

The Last Chance Qualifier was won by Fred Ebler of Gurnee, the 'C' main by John Haeni of Lomira and the 'B' Main by John Sernett of Shakopee, Minn.

Blake Feese of Saybrook, 'The Land of Lincoln Lightning,' scored an impressive victory at Powercom in the main event. After posting fast time among the IRA season high 56 car field, the 18-year-old came up one spot short in the heat race and was forced to run the 'B' main. A second place finish in the 'B' earned him a third row starting berth in the 'A' main. Feese was followed across the checkered by Roe, Hensley, Sernett and Hepfner in the top five.

LET'S GO RACING

Michael H. Babicz

At Plymouth, the 'C' main victory went to Michaels with Winker taking the 'B' Hepfner was quick qualifier among the 51 cars on hand at Plymouth. Finishing behind Winker in the 'A' Main were Hensley, Feese, Roe and Goeden in the top five.

Lance Fassbender scored the Midwest Sprint Association feature win at Plymouth, the first of his career which allowed Roger Mueller to have the pleasure of having interviewed his father, Fuzzy, and Lance in victory lane over the years.

Wilmot's grandstand gates open at 5 p.m. with sprint time trials scheduled for 6:15 p.m. and racing to follow.

A great night, weatherwise, saw a season-high record turnout for the BIC cars at Lake Geneva Raceway on Friday, Aug. 18. Todd Booker of Hebron, well known form having been the Lake Geneva roll-over 'King' during earlier season contests, scored his first ever feature win. Point leader Butch Aissen of Woodstock was second, Kent Metzger of Walworth third, Bob Koch of McHenry fourth and 'Wild Willy' Webb of Sharon fifth.

Rob Schiebel of Ingleside and Ron Grischow of Whitewater each won semi-features as the 38-car field resulted in twin last chance events being held. Heat victories went to Matt Lepperd of North Prarie, Schiebel and Nick Kalties of Lake Villa. Rosendo Moreno of Hebron won the dash with Booker posting quick time.

Todd Ross of Hoffman Estates picked up his first sport truck feature win. RJ Ross of Northbrook, Bill Vankirk of Racine, Vincent Merry of Wadsworth and Kurtis Gurtowski of Zion completed the top five. Eric Roberts of Wadsworth won the heat race with point leader James Olson of Woodstock taking the dash. Chad Phillips of Porter, Ind. Posted fast time.

Lake Geneva hosts its second to last weekly Friday program Aug. 25 featuring mini-modifieds, sport trucks, Formula Indy-Cars, Wisconsin Allison Legacy Series Cars, INEX Legends, BIC Cars and Millenium Late Models.

In the mini-modifieds championship battle, 'Dr. Tooth' Ken Johnson, the racing dentist from the Antioch Dental Center, holds a 25-point advantage over Duck Wack of Paddock Lake. Landry Potter of Genoa City won his third super late model feature of the season at Lake Geneva on Aug. 19.

Adam Regnier of McHenry took top honors in the super stock main. A third place finish by John Janssen of Genoa City, defending champion, was good enough to give Janssen a 10-point lead in the season championship battle, 3,595-3,585, over Regnier. Mike Kooi of Island Lake won the semi-feature with heat wins going to John Maki Jr. of Antioch and Regnier, while Janssen won the dash and posted fast time.

Fast qualifier Scott Poritz of Burlington won the sportsman feature while Leroy Potter of Genoa City won the heat and Mike Monroe of Pell Lake taking the dash.

The scheduled trailer race was cut short when one of the 14 entries caught fire on lap five. No one was injured and the fire was contained and extinguished by the Raceway Safety Team.

Lake Geneva hosts super late models, super stocks and sportsman on Aug. 26 with the annual Junior Fan Club coin grab scheduled.

Race time both Friday and Saturday at Lake Geneva is at 7:30 p.m. with time trials at 6 and grandstand gates opening at 5.

Lake Geneva promoter Kevin Dawson,
Wilmot promoter Andy Calin and yours truly have put together and 'Dirt/Asphalt Challenge Bowl' to be held on Saturday, Oct. 7 at Lake Geneva Raceway.

Teams made up of five representatives from Wilmot and five from Lake Geneva will engage in a special 'King of the Hill' race driving BIC cars. Fans will have an opportunity to make donations to their favorite driver. The winning driver will donate all of the funds donated to the charity of their choice.

This is being done as part of the 'Kids & Racers for Victory!' program, of which Lake Geneva and Wilmot are the first participating tracks in the nation.

More details and special surprises for the race and the evening will be announced in the future.

And, Paul Tracy of Las Vegas, originally from Canada, took advantage of the Canadian Hi weather system and scored a comefrom-behind victory in the Motorola 220 for the CART FedEx Championship Series Sunday afternoon. Tracy, who had struggled all weekend in practice and first round qualifying, almost had a race-ending incident on the opening lap.

Tracy took the lead from Roberto Moreno with five laps remaining, going on to score his second victory of the CART season. Adrian Fernandez came on strong to finish second. Rookie Kenny Brack was third. Moreno ended up fourth. Jimmy Vasser, making his last Road America start for Chip Ginassi, was fifth.

Ginassi and Vasser formally announced in a Road America press conference on Friday morning. Both indicated it was a mutual agreement with Vasser indicating he would be exploring opportunities with other teams and Ginassi would be talking with various drivers. An interesting part of the scenario is Ginassi's other driver, Juan Montoya, is being rumored to be headed for Formula 1 which would leave Ginassi with no set drivers for the 2001 campaign.

Paul Gentilozzi scored another win at Elkhart Lake by taking the checkered in the Trans Am race held Saturday afternoon. Gentilozzi has said numerous times how much he likes the four-mile course and his victory assured it will remain a personal favorite for the future.

Buddy Rice of DSTP (Don't Spend The Principle) Racing Team, who lives in Phoenix, took a major step toward the CART Toyota Atlantic Championship with his impressive win on Sunday morning. Rice, who was a phone in guest on the lLetis Go Racingi Motorsports Report which aired Aug. 17 and following his win on Aug. 22, has indicated he is in serious discussions with a couple of CART teams regarding the 2001 season. Watch for this young charger to possibly go after the CART rookie of the year crown next season.

The 'Let's Go Racing' Motorsports Report returns to its traditional Thursday spot on Aug. 31 from 6-7 p.m. on WKRS 1220 AM radio. Nilton Rossoni of Brazil captured the victory in the Barber Dodge Pro Series to cap off an impressive weekend of his own, posting a new qualifying mark of 2:12.506, 109.978 MPH and the win in Sunday's event.

And watch the Road America website, www.roadamerica.com, for the latest information on the 2001 season. A new facility for go-kart and micro-sprint races, along with junior dragsters, is under construction with plans to open next year. Briggs & Stratton are providing the sponsorship for the facility.

Until next week, 'Let's Go Racing!'

Tracy takes checkered flag at Road America

By ROB BACKUS Staff Reporter

Despite the disappointment of the winner not making it around the track on his victory lap in the running of the CART/FedEx Motorola 220 at Road America in Elkhart Lake Wis. on August 20, it was still an exciting day at the storied four-mile road course.

Ironically, the winner was Canadian Paul Tracy, who failed to make it around to turn 12, also known as Canada Corner. Tracy, in his first win on a road course since 1994, ran out of gas at turn five of his victory lap. As the call of, "Paul Tracy has run out of gas!" blared over the loudspeaker, the crowd booed in frustration of not being able to wave to the race's winner. Tracy, who has earned the reputation of being one of the dirtiest drivers in open-wheel racing after being black-flagged and suspended numerous times for illegal track contact, ran a very clean race at Road America.

The victory gives Tracy 17 in his career, second behind Michael Andretti's 40 wins on the active list. Tracy's victory also tied Danny Sullivan for seventh on the all-time career wins

In a rare occasion, Tracy was the quiet guy on the track as he qualified in 13th position on Friday before rallying on Saturday to start on the grid in seventh place.

However, Tracy ran into trouble on the first lap as his accelerator sensor failed and kept telling him that his throttle was stuck, which nearly caused the car to stall out. He nearly came to a complete stop before he was able to override the sensor, but by the time he did the entire field had passed him as he got back up to racing speed.

Tracy was able to take the lead on lap 40 of 6, relinquished the lead on lap 46 and got the ead back on lap 51, which he held until the

Having the lead seemed to be a curse for nany drivers, with the exception of Tracy. Dario Franchitti started the race on the pole ut lost the lead on the first lap and later had to uck out due to mechanical problems. Rookie lexandre Tagliani, who took the lead from ranchitti on the first lap also eventually ropped out due to mechanical problems as id defending series champion Juan Montoya, tho also led for a substantial portion of the ace.

Also dropping out the race due to engine or mechanical troubles were such big-name drivers as: defending race champion Christian Fittipaldi, Gil de Ferran and 2000 series leader Andretti. In fact, only 10 of 25 drivers actually finished the race. Cristiano da Matta would have been 11, but he was disqualified after the 14th lap when he hit a member of his crew in a routine pit stop.

Still, despite all of the troubles, there were no full-course cautions as only one driver, Tarso Marques, actually crashed. Marques lost control of his car at Canada Corner and got stuck in the gravel. The race was run in an amazing time of one hour, 37 minutes, 53.681 seconds, over 11 minutes shorter than the average time of past CART races at Road America.

Despite the finish of only 10 drivers, Tracy's fantastic performance and perseverance should not to be overshadowed. He stuck around, behaved himself and was rewarded with a race victory and became the fifth multiple winner in Road America history, with his first victory coming in 1993. Congratulations, Paul!

enrollment was high in the 1950s because family values were high. In the 1960s enrollment took a dive because the outlook on authority had drastically changed.

"Today there are aisles and aisles of books on spirituality at the bookstores. It may be new-age spirituality but nonetheless people are looking for value-based anything," stressed Tomaszewski. "We are living in a time where people are interested in faith-based and value-based education."

Round Lake Beach resident Nancy Snyder, formerly from Grayslake, is willing to sacrifice wear and tear on the family car to keep her 7-year-old son at St. Gilbert.

"This is the best way to bring kids into religion. You can give them some sort of foundation without being overbearing," Snyder said, noting that her own Catholic education influenced her decision to send her children to a private school.

Perhaps, the literature promoting St.
Patrick Catholic School of Wadsworth says it best - "to provide a strong academic program couched in a Christian community."

"I am amazed that parochial schools are as popular as they are," said St. Patrick Principal Marcie Bosnak.

Her school ranked third largest last year with 679 of the county's 8,709 Catholic elementary students enrolled within its thrice-expanded walls.

Enrollment has doubled since 1990 with an average yearly increase of about 5 percent said Bosnak. The school has just completed a nine-year process of double-streaming its education program with two classes of K-8. In addition, a junior high school unit was built in 1994. An early childhood wing was completed in 1998 and is almost at full capacity already.

Unlike the public schools, Catholic schools cannot depend on taxpayer funding for renovations and expansions. Nor do they get assistance from the Archdiocese of Chicago unless they qualify for 'Big Shoulders' funding that is typically dispersed to low-income, inner-city parochial schools.

"We raise money through building fund drives and fund-raising efforts," said Bosnak. "Raising tuition fees for these projects would put us out of the market."

With the average Catholic school tuition being about $2,500 annually per student, Bosnak said the parents are invested and actively involved in the education process of their children. She said she periodically asks parents what attracts them to Catholic education. The most frequent responses were a 'faith-based education' and the discipline that Catholic schools are noted for.

Bert Foster of Wadsworth, who has two sons attending St. Patrick school, said he appreciates the discipline of parochial schooling.

"The nice thing about it is the kids carry that home with them also," he said, admitting that the "complete chaos" he observed in the halls of some public schools while searching for the right school for his sons influenced him to choose a more "structured and strict" route

"Discipline gets translated into expectation. If you expect more you get more," explained Bosnak. "Catholic education is tied to moral and spiritual development that teaches the students to be good citizens as well."

small pond sits on the left of the driveway leading to the Cuneo Museum in Vernon Hills. In the pond floats one majestic swan that in its eye-catching beauty enchants and prepares the viewer for the exquisite treat lying ahead.

The drive bends and winds its way through the trees, eventually passing the mansion. After leaving the car, one walks through flowered gardens accompanied by fountains, filled with stone statues, on a stone paved path. This path leads to the stately home.

The shear size of the mansion, including 12 fire places, 10 bathrooms, and servants quarters is intimidating. Walking through the house, the feeling of little orphan Annie entering Mr. Warbucks house for the first time is overwhelming. But just as Annie enjoyed her first time in a mansion, so will visitors enjoy the Cuneo Museum. The intimidating size and stately formality fall away after viewing the warmly colored rooms. The mansion is filled with an amazing sense of comfortable ease, which gives the museum its special touch.

Built between 1914 and 1918 by Samuel Insull, founder of Commonwealth Edison, John Cuneo Sr. originally bought the home and 100 acres in 1937.

Insull had worked for Thomas Edison and accumulated much wealth. At the time Cuneo bought the land, Insull had about 3,500 acres, calling the area Hawthorn Farms.

"His demise came in the stock market crash," Mary Cook, Public Affairs Coordinator, said. "The property was seized by the banks and Cuneo had the means to purchase it."

Cuneo was born on Dec. 24, 1884, and because his father was a successful real estate developer, he had a privileged child-hood. Cuneo made his fortune in the printing industry, first borrowing $10,000 from his father for an interest in Henneberry Printing Co., and later founding his own Cuneo Press. This became one of the largest printing companies in America.

Cook explained Cuneo worked on a variety of printing collections that were extremely lucrative and gained him a great deal of respect in the community.

He married Julia Shepherd in 1927, who was a granddaughter to a founder of the Chicago based Crerar-Adams Railway Supply Company. They had two children, John F. Cuneo Jr., and Consuela. While the children were yet young, Cuneo purchased the mansion.

He eventually held about 2,400 acres of land. Now, the museum and grounds rest on 73 acres with one of the first big sales going for the Hawthorn Mall.

Cuneo died in 1977, survived by his wife. Julia continued to live in the mansion until her death in 1990. The following year, the museum opened to the public. The estate is now run by a Board of Directors with numerous volunteers helping. Tours are held each day and the grounds are available for countless activities.

Cook said they do many children's activities and were just now preparing for an outdoor theater performance in the court yard. Reservations for outdoor weddings are booked far into the advancing year. Also, scenes from "My Best Friend's Wedding" were filmed in the mansion and on its grounds.

Cuneo's many talents did not just include his smart business sense, but also his taste for art and his heart for family. He collected many items over his life time which are now on display in the mansion. The preservation of his 17th century tapestries, Italian Old Master paintings, and period Continental furniture are why the museum exists.

"We're just in our infancy," said Cook. "We're growing but

Diverse menu at Richmond Manor

I f you've ever wondered what happened to the old Andre's Steak House, you'll be pleased to know that it's been reopened as Richmond Manor. Located on Route 12, just north of Richmond proper, this landmark building is home to a lovely restaurant, featuring elegant yet casual dining and a Sunday brunch worth getting up for.

The dinner menu is diverse enough for even the most hard to please palate, with selections ranging from Filet mignon to Veal saltimbocca and BBQ baby back ribs to Coquilles St. Jacques. There is also an array of appetizers, chicken dishes, pasta, chops and a few sandwiches for the lighter appetite.

My companion and I started our meal with escargots, which were very tender but not as much garlic as we like. I had a ribeye steak that was every bit of 14ozs, and a good inch thick. It was grilled to a perfect medium rare and was one of the most flavorful steaks I've eaten. Served with a rather large baked potato and a sauteed medley of fresh vegetables, I'm glad I passed on the salad.

My dinner partner ordered the N.Y. strip steak, served with French fries and the vegetable medley. The steak was grilled beautifully and the portion was almost as big as my ribeye. We ordered a fine burgundy from the extensive wine list to round out our already wonderful meal.

we have a long way to go in the museum industry."

The Great Hall is the first room entered in the mansion. It is a large, two-story room with open balcony, rising 40 feet to a full ceiling sky light. The room was designed by architect Benjamin Marshall to mirror sculpture courtyards from the Renaissance period (1300-1600). The skylight originally opened up, but when the Cuneo's moved in they had it permanently sealed because of rain leakage. The hall is done in light colors with Venetian touches and Palladian elements. Though massive, the light-filled room impresses an eloquent hello.

Cook said historians believe Insull used the Great hall as an outdoor garden inside the house. It would have held no decorations, furniture or art at that time.

"It would have given the entire effect of being outdoors while being inside," Cook said, adding that the sky light was very innovative for the time period.

In the center sits an Italian trestle table, dating from about 1590. It was a gift to Cuneo from William Randolph Hearst-close friend and colleague. This table is only the beginning of the wonders of old Italian Renaissance items that fill the rooms and halls.

The Great Hall acts as a center for the living room, the ballroom, the family chapel, the library, the woman's powder room, the ships room, and two dining rooms. Each are filled with elegant furniture and decorated with stunning taste.

Austrian artist John Mallin painted artwork in the ballroom, the dining room, and the chapel, while also designing the stained glass windows for the chapel.

Of course, the dining room was the setting for many formal diners, with the New Year's Eve party being the most well-known. One of the traditions of the evening involved watching the latest film from Hollywood in the basement theater. The dining table extends to seat 36, where after the movie, all the guests would gather to eat the several course meal.

Cuneo was a religious man and many of the artwork and tapestries decorating the walls depict his inclination to Christ. On the staircase heading up, a seventeenth century Brussels tapestry tells the Old Testament story of Solomon receiving the keys to the Temple. The second floor is full of bedrooms, each with its own bath.

A favorite event sponsored by the Museum is the brunch program. They are done on a limited basis and are usually accompanied with an event or holiday.

"This past Mother's Day we served about 800 guests," Cook said. This was possible because the event was held outside. When brunches are brought inside, the seating allows for only about 200. For reservations or more information regarding brunches, call 816-9900.

The enchanting house unmistakably holds the collections of a prosperous man. But it also radiates the enchanting power of family. Cueno was careful not to forget about the children. Among many of his endeavors, he oversaw the building of the Frank Cuneo Hospital that was later donated to the City of Chicago and established the Cuneo Foundation that supported charitable causes for the needs of children.

Heirloom Garden Show to be held at 1840s farm museum

Garfield Farm Museum will host the 11th Annual Heirloom Garden Show on Sunday, August 27 from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. As harvest time comes on, now is the time for planning next year's garden. At the show, Great Lakes gardeners can meet sources for now rare varieties of cultivars. More than 20 exhibitors will be on hand to share tips on raising heirloom vegetables, fruits, flowers and herbs. Visitors will have a chance to see, taste, learn about and purchase old varieties of plants that are in danger of extinction. City and country gardeners who are raising heirloom varieties are welcome to display their efforts by contacting the museum to register for the show.

Many of the exhibitors are members of the Seed Savers Exchange, a national nonprofit organization working to save the genetic diversity of domestic plants. The Exchange attempts to find growers that are raising rare and hard to find heirloom plants thus making it easier for others interested in heirloom varieties to find seed sources. Some exhibitors at the Heirloom Garden Show will have seeds available for sale or will be taking orders for the 2001 growing season.

Garfield Farm museum's gardens will be on display during the show. Interpreters will be available to answer questions about the antique varieties grown in the vegetable, kitchen and flower gardens. An educational display of herbs from Garfield Farm's kitchen garden won the educational award when they were featured at the St. Charles Pottawatomie Garden Club Show in 1995. The Garden Club is one of the sponsors of the 2000 show.

The heirloom flower garden features antique flower varieities from the Center for Historic Plants at Monticello, Virginia. The Center collects and preserves the plants raised by Thomas Jefferson. Some of these > same plants can be seen in their wild forms in Garfield Farm's prairie demonstration area. Tours will be held throughout the day. There is a donation of $5 per adult and $2 for children under 14 years of age to benefit the museum's ongoing restoration.

Garfield Farm Museum is a former 1840s farm and teamster inn being restored by volunteers to be a working farm. The museum is located five miles west of Geneva, IL off of Ill. Rte. 38 on Garfield Rd. For information, call (630) 584-8485 or visit the web page at www.elnet.com/~garfarm.

'The Cell's' story line can't compare to visuals

n the early '90s, director Tarsem Singh changed the face of music video with his visual interpretation of R.E.M's "Losing My Religion."

The video, unlike anything that came before it, used odd religious images coupled with haunting images of singer Michael Stipe in an eroding room, standing in front of a bright;y lit window.

Now, almost a decade later, Singh has moved away from the short medium of music video into the complex realm of feature-length film, a move that could either make or break a director.

Another music video director, Spike Jonze made the same leap

the middle of a vast desert, to the haunting landscapes and costumes of serial killer Carl Stargher's (Vincent D'Onofrio) subconscious, the visuals in "The Cell" are hard to match. However, the movie's predictable, even boring, story line does not live up to the visuals.

In the film, Stargher is a schizophrenic serial killer who kills his female victim's by drowning them in a glass cage. FBI agent Peter Novak (Vince Vaughn) is on the trail of the killer. When he finally catches up to Stargher, the serial killer has gone into a coma. His last victim is trapped in the cell, which is automatically set to drown her by the end of the day.

To find the location of the victim, Novak turns to a group of psychologists who have come up with an experimental and unproven means of treatment. The treatment involves a process in which Catherine Deane (Lopez) and the patient are hooked up to a machine that allows the doctor to go into the subconscious of the patient.

Catherine agrees to go into the serial killer's mind to find the location of the victim. There, she confronts to aberrations of the serial killer- a meek child and a god-like king who control's Stargher's subconscious world.

Inside his mind, Catherine tries to befriend the child and fight off the mental power of the king-like character.

This story line is nothing more than a science fiction remake of "The Silence Of The Lambs." The movie moves along its predictable path until its conclusion, which is blatantly foreshadowed in one of the opening scenes of the movie.

The acting in "The Cell" is lackluster at best. Even though the audience is taken deep into the subconscious of a couple of the characters, there is no real insight into the characters. Attempts by the director to delve into these characters never hit their mark, even with the rich symbols seen inside of the minds.

By the end of the movie, the audience is left confused at how the journeys inside the mind of a psychopath have left the characters. The audience is left with no closure, and this sort of ending simply does not work with the rest of the movie.

If it were simply a string of visuals, like a music video, "The Cell" would earn five popcorn boxes. Unfortunately, the poor story line and mediocre acting cannot be ignored, earning "The Cell" two popcorn boxes. HOUSE .CO

Chicken Run

This film's co-directors Nick Park and Peter Lord have not disappointed. Borrowing unabashedly from "The Great Escape" and "Stalag 17," each frame of this claymation feature is filled with details both charming and entertaining. Yankee chicken Rocky (Mel Gibson) helps a flock led by Ginger (Julia Sawalha) escape death by pot pie. The characters are, as with all Park's creations, rich in expression and personality. "Chicken Run" is destined to become a family classic. Five popcorn boxes. - Brenda Beitscher

Coyote Ugly

To be honest, "Coyote Ugly," like every motion picture, has its peaks and valleys of entertainment, but is peppered with reality, sort of. In the summer of multi-million dollar, special-effect "blockbusters", "Coyote Ugly" takes a different route-humanity.

This type of predictable story has been told before. A small town character moves into the big city to make a dream come true. But, if you can relate to the character in a form of experience and reality, the movie holds a little more meaning..

I applaud the attempt and admire the artistry of "flair bartending", but I wish the movie could be re-edited and have a budget to complete the story-line the way I'm sure it was intended. Two and a half popcorn boxes. —Derek Bishop

Nutty Professor II: The Klumps

As with most sequels, the follow up to "The Nutty Professor" doesn't live up to the first film. Though Eddie Murphy does a fantastic job of portraying all five Klumps and Buddy Love, none of his personas has much to say that is worth hearing. The film is rated PG-13 indicating that the humor should bend toward the adult side of things, but a majority of the jokes reference bodily, bathroom functions— the type of humor preferred by fourth grade boys. That said, there are enough sight gags and jokes about anatomy and sex to make that same group of fourth grade boys blush. "Nutty Professor II: The Klumps" is ruder, cruder and not nearly as funny as its 1996 smash hit predecessor. One and one half popcorn boxes. —Julie Murphy

The Replacements

"The Replacements" is good fun for those eagerly awaiting the start of the football season. Coach Jimmy McGinty (Gene Hackman) goes the unconventional route to fill in striking players' positions and chooses unknowns to make up his team. This rag-tag bunch of guys makes for a fun couple of hours to watch. Three and a half popcorn boxes. -Michelle Habrych

HOROSCOPE

Aries – March 21/April 20

A close friend needs your help with a romantic problem. While you would like to be there for this person, he or she wants you to do something dishonest. Don't do it. Deceit isn't going to help his or her situation. A loved one offers to take you out late in the week. Say yes, because it will be fun.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Your home is your sanctuary this week, Taurus. Co-workers are making demands on you, and loved ones are asking for your help. Only do what you absolutely must. Then, take a little time for yourself. Relax, read a good book, or just watch television. Gemini plays a key role.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

Stand your ground when that special someone tries to convince you to do something that you don't want to do. Don't let him or her bully you. You know what is right and what is wrong. Do what is right. A loved one needs a shoulder to cry on. Be there for him or her.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Don't let your conscience get the best of you when you lie to get out of a difficult situation. Your tiny fib doesn't cause any problems, and it saves you a lot of grief. So, don't feel bad. The person whom you've been seeing asks you an important question. Don't worry — it's not that question!

Leo - July 23/August 23

A friend with whom you haven't spoken in a long time turns to you for help with a family matter. Do what you can for him or her. Your efforts will be appreciated. This also will strengthen your relationship and bring the two of you closer. A loved one helps you out with a home-improvement project. Let him or her know that you're grateful for the assistance.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22
You have an important decision to make early in the week, Virgo, and several people are counting on you to make the right choice. Don't let the pressure get to you. Just look at the pros and cons, and do what you think is best. Everything will work out. Turn to a loved one for advice if you need it.

He or she is there for you.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't be fooled by an acquaintance's tall tale. He or she wants to pull a fast one on you. Don't let that happen. If something sounds too good to be true, it probably is. Remember that. That special someone has a surprise for you late in the week. Enjoy!

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't let your ego take control during a business meeting early in the week, Scor-pio. Vanity only will make you lose credi-bility. Be proud of your accomplishments, but realize that you still have to work dili-gently. A loved one offers you constructive criticism. Listen to what he or she has to

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21 Don't back down when an acquaintance challenges you this week. You know that you are right, and you can prove it easily. So, go to it. Those watching will be impressed by your confidence. A close friend turns to you for romantic advice. Be honest with him or her - even if what you have to say won't be appreciated.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

While you want to advance your career, don't be too aggressive. That only will in-timidate your co-workers and make the higher-ups suspicious. Just work diligently, and try to help others. That's how you'll make the best impression. That special someone needs to borrow money. Do what you can for him or her.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't keep quiet when you know that an acquaintance purposely has made a difficult situation worse. Tell those involved about it, and try to help rectify the situation. Your efforts will be appreciated, and your honesty will be rewarded. Cancer plays an important role in this situation.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

Stand up for yourself when a co-worker makes accusations against you. If you just explain yourself calmly, everyone will know that you're telling the truth. Getting upset only will make the situation worse.

Election preview tops power breakfast

The Lake County Power Breakfast returns on Sept. 6 with a focus on politics. The monthly business forum at Midlane Golf Resort in Wadsworth kicks off its 10th season with a preview of the November election and an inside look at legislative initiatives in Springfield.

"With a presidential election just a couple of months away, this year's program takes on even more significance," said Lenny Khayat, spokesman for the golf resort.

The Lake County Power Breakfast is open to the public the first Wednesday of each month beginning at 7:30 a.m. at Midlane Golf Resort. For reservations call 360-0550.

Forest Preserve referenda on ballot

Lake County voters will have the chance to acquire and restore land, protect rare species, and create more trails and other outdoor recreation and educational opportunities.

Commissioners approved a resolution placing two referenda on the Nov. 7 general election ballot. The first would provide $85 million for Forest Preserve land preservation, acquisition and improvements. It would cost a homeowner whose property is valued at $200,000 about $28 per year.

The second item would fund public safety, operation and maintenance of new Forest Preserve lands, trails and facilities, and would cost the same owner about $8 annually.

Bonner Farm awaits next chapter of life

From top to bottom, Bonner Farm is being restored so that present day residents can see how Lake County farm families lived and worked decades ago.

Acquired by the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist., Bonner Farm represents more than a century of farm life, the original farmstead going back to 1850.

Today, the eight-acre site of farm buildings and two homes stands on Grass Lake Rd., just west of Rte. 45 surrounded by modern suburbia as represented by the Village of Lindenhurst.

With a budget of $1.5 million for restoration, the first stage of preservation will be new roofs for all the buildings, according to Janet Gallimore, director of the Lake County Discovery Museum and the Green Belt Cultural Center. Gallimore is overseer of the property that once extended in all directions to more than 300 acres.

"We expect to have the new roofs on by November. Our priority is to stabilize the buildings," Gallimore reported.

Restoration work is being guided by David Lindquist, a Barrington architect, and a planning and advisory committee of 15 volunteers, some of them with family roots in county farming going back to the late 1800's.

A firm foundation already has been put under one of the homes, the original Bonner family home, that is dated to 1850, a two-story clapboard structure typical of early Lake County farms. The other residence now is rented to a Forest Preserve Dist. employee who also provides on-site security oversight.

Residents, officials hot over affordable housing plan

Proposed affordable housing without public hearings angers residents, County Board

By SANDY HARTOGH Correspondent

"This (government) is not a dictatorship in Lake County!"

These heated words, spoken by County Board member Diana O'Kelly (R-Mundelein) aptly describe the sentiment shared by many outraged residents and government officials present at a Zoning Board of Appeals public hearing pertaining to a proposed affordable housing ordinance. The ZBA was directed by the Planning, Building and Zoning Committee to hold the hearing to consider a text amendment to the county's new Unified Development Ordinance.

Titled the Transit/Employment-Oriented Development Overlay (T/EOD-O), the proposed ordinance is intended to apply to unincorporated areas of the county that rest within one mile of existing or funded transit stations or an existing employment center.

The text amendment would require "housing which is affordable to working families at a broad range of income levels" to be built near accessible public transportation and employment centers that contain at least 5,000 jobs. Based on the Chicago HUD's definition of median income, affordable housing to a four-member family with an income of $75,000 would be a home that costs $160,000 or less. The Regional Planning Commission recommended a density of 20 units per acre with a 50foot building height for the proposed developments, claiming that higher density would ultimately preserve more open space.

The text also stated that developers who choose the T/EOD-O option would have "by right" power to build the affordable housing developments without public hearings as long as the required criteria is met. Those requirements include neighborhood compatibility, design and successful management. Also, 50 percent of the net site area must be comprised of residential development with no less than 25 percent devoted to low-cost housing.

"We recognize that affordable housing can be controversial to people living nearby," stated Philip Rovang, director of the county's planning and development department.

"Their adverse reaction could generate negative reaction so that zoning can't go through. That is why the "by right" strategy exists."

O'Kelly questioned the legality of negating the public's right to be notified of zoning changes.

"This is a sneak attack on the residents, who will be affected by this proposal," claimed O'Kelly who also countered that the ZBA public hearing was a farce because the public was not properly notified.

County Board member Sandy Cole (R-Grayslake) agreed stating that a sole notice printed in a Waukegan newspaper was not sufficient notification to the majority of residents who live within one mile of the proposed transit and employment centers. The transit centers are located in Buffalo Grove, the College of Lake County in Grayslake, Ft. Sheridan in Highland Park, Fox Lake, Libertyville, Long Lake, Mundelein, Prairie View, and Waukegan. Targeted employment centers include Abbott Labs, Kemper Insurance and the industrial area of Roundout.

"I personally called my constituents to notify them of this meeting, otherwise they wouldn't be here," said Cole, whose district has been slated for four affordable housing sites, three of which are in the Gages Lake area that is already swamped with affordable housing.

"This is a slap in the face to voters without proper public hearings," argued Gages Lake resident Al Titus.

So said Arelene Demb of Highland Park, the newly appointed executive director of Save-A-Pet in rural Grayslake.

"I was born into the non-profit world and I like it because I feel I can make a difference," she explained. "I'm selling something that is different from what the private sector is selling, and in

New land buys in voters' hands

orest preserve commissioners are in a buying mood and they think Lake County taxpayers are, too. That frame of mind adds up to fast-tracking the next round of public land acquisition in a proposition to be put before voters Nov. 7.

Added to the disposition for action is the fact that a growing number of owners of the county's diminishing supply of open space appear to be in a mood to sell. Thus the stage is set for the classic real estate transaction; a willing buyer and a willing seller estate transaction: a willing buyer and a willing seller.

County officials believe that the time is right to engage in the next round of aggressive land acquisition for the forest preserve system. President Carol Calabresa (R-Libertyville) says $150 million worth of land is available. After the latest earmarking of $8.8 million for the purchase of 365 acres near Antioch, only $12 million is available for future open space purchase, the remains of a $55 million bond issue approved by voters two years ago.

Forest preserve commissioners are buoyed by a survey conducted in June where 68 percent of 505 registered voters contacted indicated a willingness to pay more taxes for preserve expansion. The Antioch purchases of the 281-acre Raven Glen dairy farm for $5.3 million and the 75-acre Timber Lake Park RV campground for $3.5 million were examples of willing sellers cooperating with county government to preserve and protect open space.

Expected to be put before voters election day is an $85 million bond issue proposition. If approved, $70 million is ticketed for land acquisition and $15 million will go for restoration and trail building to enhance public access. Cost in real estate taxes? Little more than a family of four's trip to McDonald's. Commissioners are in an expansive mode and likely also will put a district tax rate increase measure on the ballot, the first since 1986. If approved the rate increase would add $1.9 million more per year in operating funds for the growing district.

What's happened is that both the sellers and the buying public realize that taking land out of the path of development makes both economic and environmental sense. Now is no time to slow down a land acquisition program that is beneficial to both present and future citizens of Lake County.

We like the direction the present Forest Preserve Dist. leadership is taking. Aggressive land acquisition led by Com. Al Westerman (R-Gurnee) is to be applauded. We heartily endorse the Nov. 7 bond question. Voters will do well to keep a good scenario moving forward.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Salvi's statements eerily true

I Salvi, who rocked the establishment by winning twice in a row the Republican nomination for statewide office, must be reading the papers with a smile these days.

He lost the '96 general election for the Senate because he said "the Brady law is ineffective" in a debate. Those words would haunt him in his opponent's commercials, even though Salvi had a moderate record on guns. (For example, Salvi was opposed by the NRA in 1986 for Congress because he strongly supported long waiting periods and was for banning armor piercing bullets and plastic guns—opposite positions of conservatives like Dick Cheney that year.)

Al Salvi later wrote an essay in the Chicago Sun Times saying that he has always supported effective gun control, but opposing ineffective laws made him sound like he did not care—so, he wrote, "fine," he supports the Brady bill. He always supported Illinois' waiting period—longer than the Brady bill—but he continued to maintain that lives were not being saved by this bill.

The Aug. 2 newspaper headlines eerily vindicate Salvi's 1996 statements, and h is 1997 essay. The Sun Times "Brady gun law ineffective." The Tribune: "Study says Brady Act hasn't cut gun deaths." Similarly, the Daily Herald noted the bill's ineffectiveness. All the papers cited, however, some symbolic value. Society, in essence, followed the same thoughtful trail as Salvi had years earlier.

Salvi won the 1998 primary for Secretary of State, but again lost the general election because of bold, cutting-edge statements. "Corruption in the Illinois Secretary of State's office is widespread," he was quoted as saying in the summer of '98. He was immediately attacked, especially by George Ryan. He turned out to be right about this, too.

Illinois doesn't, apparently, want true leaders like Al Salvi. We want "safe" choices who say nothing controversial—or, better yet, nothing at all. This is not new—Abe Lincoln lost here for Senate, too, partly because of his controversial statements on the issue of slavery. The papers called him a "clown" (Tribune) and ridiculed him. Fortunately for Illinois and for the nation, Lincoln nonetheless later emerged victorious in a national election.

Whether, in today's political atmosphere, a true leader can still do that remains to be seen. Whether a true leader like Al Salvi even "wants" to do so, in such a sterile political environment, also remains to be seen.

Latinos aiming at understanding

oubt, misunderstanding and lack of information about Lake County's Latino community is being erased by a new non-profit organization.

Coalicion Latinos Unidos de Lake County (Latino Coalition of Lake County) is making rapid strides among Hispanics and non-Hispanics in bringing about understanding and interaction in the county's fastest growing ethnic group.

The coalition holds a regular meeting at noon on the second Thursday of every month at Provena-St. Therese Medical Center. "We're open. Feel free to come," asserted Del Martinez, RN, community outreach nurse who also is connected with the marketing department of the hospital.

President of the coalition, Rosa Reyes-Prosen, was just appointed to fill a vacancy on the College of Lake County board of trustees. A resident of Beach Park and a long-time activist for Latino causes, Reyes-Prosen said she is giving serious consideration to running next spring for outright election to the CLC board.

Both Reyes-Prosen and Martinez stress the coalition's efforts to bring Spanish-speaking residents into the mainstream of Lake County life, "Lake County from its earliest days has been an area in transition. That hasn't changed," remarks Martinez, calling attention to Latinos being the latest of non-English speaking newcomers to establish a home in the county.

Reyes-Prosen points out quickly that her husband is of Lithuanian descent, a group that established a strong presence in the Waukegan-North Chicago area nearly 100 years

Coalition officers estimate that Latinos or Hispanics (the identification is interchangeable) constitute about 12 to 15 percent of Lake County's estimated 600,000 population. Latinos are more than half the Waukegan population. Several businessmen in the coalition, including Martinez, who has resided in Lake County for 20 years, are about to launch a bilingual weekly newspaper.

Charles' specialty is graphite drawings. The exhibit is appropriately titled "Two Generations of Art." The Kanwischers were feted at a reception.

Seeking hosts

One hundred forty talented young performers, members of the famous multi-cutural Up with People troupe, are on their way for two performances and they need places to stay. Host families supply room, board and transportation for several nights. This year's production, "A Common Beat," will be presented, Sept. 8, at Ross Auditorium, Great Lakes Naval Training Center, and 7:30 p.m., Sept. 12, at Round Lake Senior High School gym. Information on hosting can be obtained by calling one of the sponsors, Lakeland Community Bank, at 847-740-2265.

Breakfast time

Kids from poor families aren't the only ones who go to school hungry. Middle School students at economically upscale Lake Bluff will have a breakfast period every morning beginning with the fall term. Principal Kathy O'Hara said 40 minutes will be allotted beginning at 7:45 a.m. for students to purchase a "basic" breakfast. Time constraints, not financial ones are what prompted the start of the program.

Future Tigers

Is it any wonder every father and grandfather is bent on grooming the next Tiger Woods? After hearing about how grandson John did at kids clinic followed up by nine holes at Hickory Knolls (pretty good), one of my former golfing buddies told me about HIS grandson. High school junior Jerry Molidor III regularly shoots around 70 (give or take). He began the summer break with two holes in one-within one week. Now he has to try out for his high school team. If Jerry III has to endure the tryout route, Marion Central High in McHenry County must have one heckuva golf team.

Telemarketing: It invades your privacy

ears ago when radio talk shows weren't fascinated with such things as political extremes, sex garbage, sports jocks, village idiots and the like, they used to talk about such mundane things as what are people's pet peeves. There were always a range of pet peeves yet it was surprising how many people shared the same dislikes and likes.

Let me share with you one of mine, and I know I'm not alone. Two Sundays ago, in the morning, I received a call from a gentleman who started with the opening line that he was making a courtesy call to me, and then he started to pitch his product.

Not too far into his "pitch," I interrupted him by saying that he would be more courteous to me if he didn't call on a Sunday morning, and my answer was "no thanks" for Sunday and the rest of the week. We tend to blame the faceless person on the other end of the telephone, but the real blame lies with the companies that use telemarketers endlessly to disrupt the privacy of our homes.

If there is anything that people want after a tiring and often frustrating day at work it is to come home to enjoy some peaceful privacy. The telemarketer seems to time his call to you just at dinner and that doesn't make you too happy, does it? Then there are those who, never mind that the federal law prohibits phone solicitations after 9 p.m., will still bother you with late-night calls.

So, you tried to "out-fox" them by having Caller ID only to find that marketeers often use devices to block their telephone numbers from appearing on our screen. I am told that, even though a new state law prohibits them from blocking out their numbers, they're still doing it. I imagine that they aren't proud of who they are, let alone their tactics.

Consumers are always told that they should do this or that when they are annoyed with telemarketing calls. It's always the consumer who is called upon to take contain steps,

A contract of the contract of not the culprit who is the annoyance.

We ought to start taking steps against these companies and the telemarketers who are interfering with the serenity of our homes. Get after the "annoyers," rather than the "annoyees," if I can coin a couple of new words.

If your calls are anything like mine, we can narrow it down to three of "the usual suspects." High on my list, and it rather irritates me that they head the list, are telemarketers who are shilling for business for long-distance telephone companies. It's bad enough that we get this outrageous number of telephone solicitations, but to come from telephone companies is more than any of us should be allowed to bear.

Second on the list of annoying phone calls belongs to the credit card companies. It has been said that two of the major credit card companies have a monopoly on the business the way it is, but their business the way it is, but their business the credit card so greed must be endless because their flood of telephone calls is surely endless. America is in debt to its ears to the credit card companies, but

LaBelle is retiring when his current term ends in December, concluding a distinguished career in county government. Schmidt now serves as vice chairman, basically a ceremonial position.

Vivacious and energetic, Schmidt has played a leadership role in bringing environmentally conscious and open space advocates into the majority.

Schmidt has been a leader of the independent wing of the GOP, withstanding assaults in her own district from Republican regulars. With more than a decade of service, Schmidt has seen the board go from a progrowth majority to today's controlled, conservation minded majority.

Motorists take note

Good news for motorists from State Rep. Andrea Moore (R-Libertyville). Moore says there's a strong likelihood that the state gasoline tax will be removed permanently in the November session of the Illinois General Assembly. The tax was suspended until the end of the year during the June upward price spiral. Moore is the GOP spokesperson to the Department of Revenue. One problem legislators are grappling with is how to replace lost revenue if the tax is removed.

Salvi expanding

Atty. Patrick Salvi, crack personal injury litigator with offices in Waukegan and Chicago, is taking his legal skills overseas. He has become a member of the board of directors of Olimpia Milano, one of Europe's top professional basketball teams located in Milan, Italy. Kobe Bryant is co-owner. #### Classy campaign

When telephone callers are put on hold after contacting the Mark Steven Kirk campaign headquarters they listen to classical music. What, no stirring march music or rock sounds? Press Secretary Dodle McCraken supplied a quick answer: "Classical music is soothing." For the jangled nerves of hardworking campaign aides, no doubt.

Semple sounding

Close observers of the Mundelein political scene are wondering if trustee Ray Semple's recent outspoken support of Rte. 53 is out of conviction or an effort to show marked differences with Mayor Marilyn Sindles, a staunch opponent of the controversial highway plan. Semple has called for a referendum on Rte. 53 which he said will identify public support.

Judge Jimmy

Everyone who knows him is saying the same thing: "Couldn't happen to a nicer, more deserving guy." Lake County's newest full circuit judge, James "Jimmy" Booras, 48, a Greek immigrant, became an associate judge in 1991. He replaces Circuit Judge Charles Scott of Fremont Center, who retired. No pushover on the bench, judge Jimmy is known for his willingness to take part in any public event where a judicial demeanor is fitting, like swearing in new officers.

Face-to-face

Lake County's most intense political campaign will be highlighted by a face-toface encounter, Oct. 31, at the Waukegan Yacht Club. State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park) and Mark Steven Kirk, competing for the 10th Congressional District seat, will square off at a meeting of the Waukegan City Club. The civic group has a tradition of sponsoring rousing political debate.

Convention footnote

Lake County Republican bigwigs are admitting that the addition of U.S. Sen. Joseph Lieberman to the national Democratic ticket will make Mark Kirk's job that much tougher because of the heavy Jewish vote in Highland Park. "Those folks always vote Democratic, but now they'll come out in greater numbers because of Lieberman," one GOP leader opined.

Rite of passage

Grayslake Community High School Dist. 127 Board of Education president Glen Eriksson arrived at the last regular board meeting looking a little different.

When asked about his lack of mustache, he replied that he had reached that "certain" birthday and no longer needed it. A parent in the audience asked, "Which birthday is it, Glen?" To which, of course, there was no response.

And there was big, jolly Bill Clinton hugging Hillary and Tipper. (Poor Tipper.)

I have never been a hugger, or much of a toucher, so I'm sure glad I wasn't on that stage within their reach. Where, when we needed her, was that gal who shoved a pie in the face of Gov. George Ryan?

I grew up in a large, close family but we didn't go around fondling one another. Changing the subject, in support of Gore, Clinton offered this endorsement:

"We've worked closely together for eight years, in the most challenging moments. He always told me what he thought. I can tell you, he is one strong leader."

That smacked of an anecdote in reporter Bob Woodward's 1992 book, "The Agenda-Inside the Clinton White House."

Woodward wrote that Gore, more than anyone else in the inner circle, had developed a way to talk bluntly with the president, generally prefacing his candid advice by saying, "I hope I'm not offending you," or "I hope I'm not taking advantage of our relationship."

At one meeting, Woodward wrote, Clinton, hemming and hawing on an issue, turned to Gore and asked, "What can I do?"

"You can get with the (blankety-blank) program!" Gore answered, his exasperation boiling over."

Others at the meeting sucked in their breaths. No one was supposed to speak to the president that harshly.

that doesn't mean that we must be indebted to them, to allow them to raid the privacy of our homes to entice us into further.

Number three on the list seems to be the home repair calls. The bothersome thing about those calls is that many seniors are "taken" by home repair scams and schemes and it's almost impossible to get the schemers to justice. The calls may be seasonal, but they are annoying enough.

That's only a partial list. Rather than the usual ways that we are told by the politicians to prevent marketeers from calling us, I thought we might throw some of their own medicine at them. Ask them who the CEO and board of directors of their companies are, so that you can call to interrupt their dinners or martini hours. #### Database lists all nursing homes in Illinois

Illinois has approximately 1,200 long-term care facilities serving more than 100,000 residents, from the young to the elderly. These facilities are licensed, regulated and inspected at least annually by the Illinois Department of Public Health. The Department also assists the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) with certifying these facilities for participation in federal payment reimbursement programs.

The Department's Bureau of Long-term Care is responsible for making sure nursing homes comply with the provisions of the state Nursing Home Care Act. In addition, under a cooperative agreement with HCFA, the Department conducts certification surveys to ensure facilities receiving Medicaid (state) or Medicare (federal) money for resident payment abide by applicable federal regulations.

Each year, Department surveyors conduct about 10,000 surveys, including annual licensure inspections, complaint investigations and reinspections. The Department's 24-hour a day Nursing Home Hotline (800-252-4343) receives nearly 19,000 calls and, as a result, staff respond to more than 5,000 complaints.

Who Regulates Nursing Homes?

Nursing homes in Illinois are licensed, regulated, inspected and/or certified by a number of public and private agencies at the state and federal levels, including the Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH) and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Health Care Financing Administration cows. Part of the barn is as modern as 1970's technology with piped in drinking cups, an electric manure conveyor and suction lines for automatic milking machines. Another part of the barn has hand-cut logs for roof rafters, indicating a construction date of the middle 1800's.

"That's what the committee will have to decide, what to preserve. That's our challenge," observed advisory committee member Ray Rockenbach of Grayslake, a retired hardware merchant, who grew up on a farm in Vernon Township.

Other buildings, all in sound condition structurely, include a grainery, horse barn, chicken house, machinery shed and a hog house. There is a free-standing milk house, although a more modern milk house that met post World War II health standards is attached to the main dairy barn by a passageway.

Gallimore said it is too early to set a date when the Bonner Farm grounds and buildings will be accessible to the public.

"We've got a lot of work to do before that," Gallimore added. She said the tennant house could become a visitors center in the future.

Surrounded by 150-year-old hardwoods, the farmstead reposes on the once productive Lake County soil, awaiting the future and surrounded by suburban rooftops where crops once grew and cattle grazed.

HOUSING

"We should have the right to our say on this. Elected officials want to slide this through. It should be voted on by the voters!"

Village of Mettawa Trustee Jack Tindle also voiced his opposition to the overlay proposal noting that the "by right" strategy without municipality input was "wrong."

ZBA Chairman Gloria Helke sided with the residents warning ZBA committee members that they "should never overshadow someone's right to express their opinion in regard to their property or the property surrounding them."

The planning department contended that the overlay ordinance would not change the zoning in the districts, and therefore did not require public hearings quire public hearings.

"These are still zoning changes by another name," countered Helke. "You are trading the public's right to know for affordable housing. We are all for some sort of affordable housing but it needs to be done fairly for everyone in Lake County."

ZBA members Susan Zingle and Victoria Freese expressed their fear that future changes in transit stations within the county would result in more rezoning for affordable housing developments. "We are taking county land and putting it at the mercy of the transit authority," stressed Freese.

a see all or hebrical actions of Figure

While the resolution expounded on the county's lack of affordable housing, many in the audience maintained that the county already has enough of it.

"The board has been working on this issue since 1994. Taxpayer money has been wasted when all you have to do is look at the tons of affordable housing available on (realtor) multiple listings," challenged Titus.

Judy Martini (R-Antioch) later stated that the public hearing was the first time the overlay "by right" proposal was brought to the County Board's attention.

"This basically sounds like a shell game and I cannot support something without a public hearing," she said. "The TEOD should be renamed the Transparent Development Ordinance because it is just smoke and mirrors. The political process of the TEOD has failed and I will not be accountable for shoving it down the throats of the public."

The ZBA continued the public hearing to Sept 6 at 1:30 p.m. Meanwhile, O'Kelly said the Lake County State's Attorney Office would be making a determination as to whether the overlay ordinance would actually constitute a change in zoning districts.

In addition to her professional career, Demb has also been actively involved in community services including the Zion Exchange Club and Chamber of Commerce, the Lake County Homeless Coalition, the Rotary Club and several women's organizations.

"The only thing I haven't truly been involved in is the Knights of Columbus because they don't have women in their club," quipped Demb.

In her spare time, Demb has been known to dabble in politics. She once sought election on the Democratic ticket as Lake County Treasurer. She also ran on the ballot for the Highland Park Sanitary District.

"I love politics," Demb said, but she admitted that she does not intend to run for political office in the future.

Demb said her main goal for Save-A-Pet is to get as many animals into good homes as possible. The center currently houses about 120 cats and 85 dogs with additional animals being cared for in 45 "foster homes."

Other goals include making Save-A-Pet financially independent, building a spay and neuter clinic on the center's premises, recruiting more volunteers and securing corporate sponsorship.

Her long-term goal is to build a sanctuary for many of the animals that are non-adoptable and relegated to a life in cages. She hopes to provide them with separate rooms and a grassy play area, much like some of the county's pet hotels offer.

"We have so many dreams and we want to do as much as we can, but we need to let people know who we are and get those dreams out into the communities," Demb stressed. "We want to give animals to people who will love and cherish them forever."

The center was originally founded by Gertrude Maxwell, who housed homeless animals in her garage in Highland Park to save them from eventual euthanasia by animal shelters. Her shelter grew and was later moved to Palatine. The current Grayslake location is built on five acres with an additional five acres of farm property available for future use.

Back-to-school fitness and nutrition tips for high school athletes

For many of the 6.5 million high school athletes in United States who are returning to school, now is the time to start getting back into the shape for fall sports after two months of barbecues and beach activities.

SportsHuddle.com, the first national network of high school sports sites, offers tips from coaches and trainers specializing in a variety of sports to help get athletes back into general and sport-specific shape. Following the advice of SportsHuddle's panel of experts will not only impress your coach and give you an edge over your competition; it could also cut down your risk of injury.

The following are some general and sport-specific fitness and nutrition tips:

 Always stay hydrated. This tip should be followed all year round but especially in warm climates when the heat can be especially brutal on the body. Remember, by the time you feel thirsty, you're already dehydrated.

 Exercise with a friend. This will get you into the competitive frame of mind and help break the boredom that can arise from a workout

Always warm up. Warming up is important to prepare the cardiovascular and muscular system for the upcoming, strenuous physical activity necessary to practice at full speed. Your warm-up is an essential component of practice and should improve your overall performance.

 Maintain your workouts during the season. It would be wise to decrease the intensity and frequency of your training sessions, and you should consider taking two days off before a game or meet. But you shouldn't stop workouts entirely.

 Change up your workouts. Change your workout every four to eight weeks, depending on the phase of training and the sport season.
 Ideally you should try to peak your strength and power for the season.

Football

Based on the sport requirements, breakfast is extremely important for two reasons. First, you want to consume a large amount of calories to gain or maintain weight. Having three meals a day is essential for maintaining weight. To gain weight you should try to eat two additional small meals for a total of five meals a day. Second; you need to have a full tank so when it is time to exercise or play a game, your reserves will be ready to go.

Soccer and Field Hockey

To compete for a whole game, you need a high energy level, so be sure you are eating appropriately and consistently. If you are not eating and drinking enough, you may not find out until the overtime of the most important game of the season.

Cross Country

You need to keep your glycogen stores up so that you do not "bonk" during a race, so be sure you are eating appropriately and consistently. Eating after a hard workout is the best way to make sure you replenish your glycogen stores.

Swimmer's ear an occupational hazard for water lovers

Dear Dr. Donohue: My mom told me to write to you. I am on a swim team and spend a lot of time every day in the pool. Lately my ear has been giving me grief. It itches and sometimes hurts. I clean it with a cotton-tipped swab every day. Do you have any other suggestions? — H.M.

ANSWER: You're describing swimmer's ear, an occupational hazard for those who spend long hours in water, especially chlorinated water.

A light coat of wax protects the ear canal from germs and keeps the lining from drying out. Immersion in water washes away the protective wax. coat. The canal lining dries. Bacteria and fungi begin to grow.

The first sign that all is not well is an itchy ear. Scratching it damages cells and provides a niche for germs to flourish. Fluid might drain out of the canal, and the ear can hurt.

Get a small bottle with a dropper. Make a solution of equal parts white vinegar and rubbing alcohol. Warm the mixture by holding the bottle in your hands.

Squeeze about three drops into the ear and let them stay there for two minutes. Then tilt the head to the side of the treated ear to drain the fluid. Repeat the treatment three times a day for one week.

If symptoms vanish, continue to use the drops daily after swimming for one month. Put them in both ears to prevent trouble.

About the cotton-tipped applicator — stop using it. It pushes debris deeper into the ear canal, and it disrupts the protective layer of wax. If it is hard to drain the ear of fluid, use the end of a towel to wick fluid out of the canal. If that doesn't work, a hair dryer on a low setting can generally evaporate the fluid.

If the ear has not cleared in one week on the above treatment, get to the family doctor. You could have an infection that requires antibiotic drops.

Dear. Dr. Donohue: I have arthritis and am in a water exercise class in a pool with a lot of chlorine. Some members of the class say that when we shower after using the pool, it is necessary to wash with soap in order to remove the chlorine. Your reply will help settle a long-standing argument a month class members. — R.S.

ANSWER: For removing chlorine from the hair, shampoo is usually necessary. Leaving trace amounts of chlorine on the hair dries it out and makes it brittle.

If the shower-without-soap group has itchy skin, it should use a mile soup such as Dove or Camay to remove all chlorine from the skin. Furthermore, that group should apply a moisturizer to the skin immediately after showering. Those who don't have dry skin don't need soap.

How much do kids need to 'fit in?'

Hi Dr. Singer,

School is about to begin and we have a problem. We went shopping for new school clothes for our kids and boy did we run into something we haven't seen before and didn't expect. Both of our kids who are 11 and 13 started getting all uppity with us because we didn't want to buy them the "in" fashions which are very expensive. We just moved into a more upscale area and I think that our kids have already been influenced by some of the kids here in a way that we are not thrilled with. We want our kids to be happy, but we have a limited budget. We also know how important it is for kids to fit in. Do we buy the stuff or not? L.L.

Dear L.L.,

I will start my answer with a little vignette about a client of mine. The reason I write about this is that I love her style and I think it will clear things up for you. She also lives in a very upscale section of town, but grew up in a very small town and on very moderate means. Her kids demand to have everything upscale. One of the things that the kids have a problem with is her car. You see, she has a beat up old station wagon that she has loved and driven for a long time. It's a dependable car and has carried them through lots. Anyway, her 12 year old daughter hates the car

PARENT'S PLACE

and is embarrassed by it. She repeatedly requests for her mom to pick her up in their other car which is more upscale. The mom is not a status person and wants to teach her kids that, so she always picks them up in the station wagon. Last time I witnessed this gentle sparring conversation between mother and daughter, the mother looked squarely into her daughters eyes and with a smile on her face said, "ask me to drive you in another car again and I'll pick you up in my nightgown with lipstick all over my face and scratch in places you don't want to see!" I almost fell out of my chair laughing! Get my point?!?!?!?

I think this mom has it right. Kids need to learn that things don't mean anything. Who you are does! Those that define you by what you have will more than likely not be your friends anyway. Also, you cannot give in to pressure like this. You have a budget to follow. Give in now and you will regret it the rest of your life! Supporting your kids involves reasonable food, shelter, affection, medical care and clothing. I don't think reasonable should necessarily include the "in" fashion things.

There are many ways to handle this. Let me just go into a couple. First, you could limit. them to an amount of money they get to spend for all the clothing for school. If they want one "in" fashion thing and it takes all the money, than they just have to survive on wearing the other clothes from last year. I'm sure they still have clothes from last year. This way, they are getting to pick the "in" thing, but they are not able to run amuck with getting many of them.

Another way to handle it is to require them to pay for the purchase of any "in" stuff on their own from birthday money or money from extra odd jobs they do. This way, you are teaching them how to work for the extras they want. This is never a bad lesson. Just don't let them hornswaggle you into feeling sorry for them if they don't get everything they want. No child has ever had any serious debilitation from getting told, "no."

Regarding fitting in, as long as you don't make them wear clothes from your old closet (although that does seem to be the style these days) or that are too short or stained all overthe place, they will find other things to fit in. about. Certainly we don't want our kids to be doing anything just to fit in, right? Just food for thought!

Dr. Sherri Singer is a Licensed Clinical Psychologist and Childhood Behavior Specialist. She regularly works in person with many readers of this column, helping them to significantly improve their kid's behavior and learning skills fast. Among many other services, she offers a "Parent Survival Training" class for parents. It lasts 3 weeks and has helped countless families to restore good behavior to their kids and peace and quiet to their homes! She is the author of, "Why Kids Misbehave" and "Raising Kids Who Don't Become Your Worst Nightmare." ## Lake Forest Hospital emergency department expansion gets underway

Lake Forest Hospital's emergency department will undergo a multi-phased expansion estimated at $5.7 million starting in Septem-

The new expanded ER will have an increased number of trauma and patient rooms that will be equipped with state-of-the-art patient monitoring systems and increased privacy. There also will be an enhanced pediatric area and a designated fast track area for less-acute cases.

Families of patients will be more comfortable with an expanded waiting room that will include a pediatric playroom and vending area. The emergency room also will continue the use of the successful bedside registration program.

"The hospital has witnessed steady growth in Emergency department patient volume over recent years and an expansion of the ER is much needed to meet patient needs," said Jody Jesse, director of ER and Cardiopulmonary Services.

The two-story structure will extend off the hospital's existing emergency department with emergency services and laboratory services remaining on the ground floor. The first floor will be flexible space for clinical/administrative use, as well as room for future growth.

Emergency services will remain open throughout the duration of the construction process. The expansion is expected to be completed in 2002.

Good home habits taught early on have long-term benefits

Rarely does a day go by when negative behavior or violence among today's youth isn't covered in the country's national news reports. More and more parents are coming under fire for their child's actions, although they are equally concerned and confused. What steps can be taken to turn this trend around to keep semblance in the home and order in the schools? Susan Turben, Ph.D., a nationally recognized Parent Educator and Child Development Specialist, offers several suggestions to parents in raising today's youth.

"Early on, parents need to communicate who's in charge of the household, and that can be done many ways," said Turben. "One such way is to assign responsibilities to children and treat those activities as having real value. Stay away from the word 'chores' - which can give the impression that the activity lacks real work."

"One of the key benefits of establishing responsibility is that children learn very early on that parents and family members want them to help, which happens to be one of the most positive reinforcements they can have at a young age. And by helping, children also learn to cooperate with siblings and other family members - essentially leading to a strong sense of partnership and trust," continued Turben. "This sense of trust also allows for better communication."

If children are taught and entrusted to work with useful and special equipment, such as vacuums or other household appliances, and can complete each task successfully, then the child's confidence is nurtured. This is called multi-sensory learning - or in simple terms - children feel competent to use their motor functions, intellect and social skills, all at the same time.

"Good habits require a lot of training, yet most of children's habits, values and beliefs tend to stem from those of their parents," commented Turben. "Children incorporate these habits by imitating and repeating what their parents do, including the tools and equipment they use. In fact, objects that toddlers see their parents using regularly, often become their chosen play toys."

Understanding the needs of families today have become key elements of consideration in the design and development of new products at many top manufacturers. For example, the overall importance of having lightweight, easy-to-use household tools have become paramount for many families.

"Family time today is more limited than ever before," commented Rick Farone, Dirt Devil's Vice President of Product Development. "And while cleaning is a necessity in every home, people do not want to spend a lot of time on housework. That's why Dirt Devil is so focused on developing upright vacuums and specialty home care products that are powerful, yet easy enough for anyone in the home to use, even children."

By popular demand from parents and child care providers alike, Dirt Devil also offers toy-sized working replicas of our most popular products. This way kids of all ages can work side-by-side with Mom or Dad and learn to 'help out' with the housework, while also acquiring valuable skills associated with role-playing and responsibility," continued

In addition, children also develop a sense. of value by being given various responsibilities. For example, if a child helps with the vacuuming of carpets and dusting of furniture, he or she will assign a greater value to those items. This generally applies to specific play areas when they're young and transcends to other practical applications around the home or yard as they become young adults.

Tips To Remember In Assigning Responsibilities To Kids

So where does a parent begin, and how should they go about the process of assigning responsibility to their children?

 Make a list, assign tasks and stick to it. Remember that assigning housework establishes a sense of teamwork and participation, especially when the outcome is to go out and have fun afterwards.

 Develop a weekly schedule. For children and parents of all ages, scheduling is imperative so that each person has an active role and a sense of ownership in running the household. A comprehensive schedule is also a great time-saver for working parents.

·Let children help. Even if it is a simple activity, such as making a leafy salad or loading plastic dishes into the dishwasher, encourage children and even toddlers to participate. By doing so, children get a better sense that they are being constructive and helping.

Specifically, the following lots on the Preliminary Plat require the requested variance to the Minimum Lot Area standard: Lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 19, 21, 23, 24, 25, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 52, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100, 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 117, 118, 119, 120, 121, 122, 123, 124, 125, 126, 127, 128, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 146, 148, 149, 150, 151, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 160, 161, 162, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 169, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179 and 181.

The requested variance to the Minimum Lot Width standard is needed for 117 lots on the Preliminary Plat. Specifically, the following lots on the Preliminary Plat require this variance: Lots 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 28, 29, 33, 34, 35, 36, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 70, 72, 73, 74, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 90, 91, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 111, 112, 113, 114, 115, 116, 123, 124, 125, 127, 128, 129, 130, 131, 132, 133, 134, 135, 136, 137, 138, 139, 140, 141, 142, 143, 144, 145, 153, 154, 155, 156, 157, 158, 159, 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, 172, 173, 174, 175, 176, 177, 178, 179, 180, and 181.

The requested variance to the Interior Side Yard standard is needed for all 182 lots shown on the Preliminary Plat.

These requested variances from the Zoning Code would permit clustering of developed portions of the Property in a manner that protects unique natural features on the Property (such as the North Central Woodland areas, depressional areas and vistas into the conservation areas) and the adjacent Redwing Slough. Additionally, these variances provide Petitioner flexibility in developing the Property to set aside almost double the amount of open space that would otherwise be required under the P.U.D. requirements. Thus, under Petitioner's P.U.D. request and preliminary plat, thirty-three (33) acres of open space will be preserved instead of the sixteen (16) acres otherwise required.

Without the requested variances to the Zoning Code, Petitioner will face extraordinary hardships and practical difficulties in developing the Property in strict compliance with the R-1 zoning standards. These hardships and practical difficulties unique to the property exist because of the unique natural features on the Property and within the adjacent Redwing Slough, that both the Village and Petitioner desire to protect.

B. Subdivision Code Variances Petitioner requests two (2) variances from the Village's Subdivision Code. The first variance concerns the limitation on the maximum length of a cul-de-sac, which is set forth in Section 152.016(O) of the Subdivision Code. The second variance concerns the requirement that "side lot lines shall be substantially at right angles or radial to street lines," as set forth in Section 152.020(F) of the Subdivision Code.

Under the Subdivision Code, the maximum length of a cul-de-sac is 500 ft. Petitioner requests a variance which would allow a cul-de-sac 1,074 ft. in length from the intersection of Sanderling Court and Goldfinch Lane to the center of the circle in Sanderling Court, as shown on the Preliminary Plat. This variance would be a variance in the amount of 574 ft. from the Subdivision Code standard. Additionally, in the event that the Village deems that all of Goldfinch Lane from the intersection of Blue Heron Circle is a single culde-sac, Petitioner also requests a variance which would allow a cul-de-sac 2,021.3 ft. in length from the intersection of Goldfinch Lane and Blue Heron Court to the center of the circle in Goldfinch Court, as shown on the Preliminary Plat. This variance would be a variance in the amount of 1,521.3 ft. from the Subdivision code standard.

The requested variances from the cul-de-sac length limitation are necessary to avoid extraordinary hardships and practical difficulties unique to the property. The long cul-de-sacs at the northern end of the Property are necessary due to the fact that there is no other access to and from the Property, except the access off of State Route 173. The Property is land-locked with the Redwing Slough on the western and northern boundaries of the Property and with the recently approved Deercrest development, now known as Northhaven at Redwing, located immediately east of the Property. When the Village approved the Preliminary Plat for Northhaven at Redwing, it did not require a permanent access connection between the Northhaven at Redwing property to Petitioner's Property at the northern end of Petitioner's Property.

Additionally, Petitioner requests a variance from the requirement in Section 152.020(F) of the Subdivision Code that states that "side lot lines shall be substantially at right angles or radial to street lines." There are three (3) side lot lines shown on the Preliminary Plat that are not at right angles to the street lines. These lot lines are located between Lots 17 and 18, Lots 57 and 58, and Lots 175 and 176 on the Preliminary Plat.

There are twenty-nine (29) side lot lines shown on the Preliminary Plat that are not radial to the street lines. These lot lines are located between the following lots on the Preliminary Plat: Lots 6 and 7; Lots 7 and 8; Lots 8 and 9; Lots 15 and 16; Lots 16 and 17; Lots 18 and 19; Lots 21 and 22; Lots 22 and 23; Lots 23 and 24; Lots 30 and 31; Lots 31 and 32; Lots 32 and 33; Lots 46 and 47; Lots 47 and 48; Lots 48 and 49; Lots 49 and 50; Lots 50 and 51; Lots 51 and 52; Lots 56 and 57; Lots 57 and 58; Lots 60 and 61; Lots 61 and 62; Lots 79 and 80; Lots 109 and 110; Lots 110 and 111; Lots 116 and 117; Lots 128 and 127; Lots 132 and 133; Lots 155 and 156.

Petitioner requests the variances from Section 152.020(F) for the same reasons discussed above for the requested variances to the Zoning Code. Without the requested variances to Section 152.020(F), Petitioner will face extraordinary hardships and practical difficulties unique to the property because of the desire of both the Village and Petitioner to preserve the unique natural features on the Property and the adjacent Redwing Slough.

PROPOSAL:

Petitioner proposes to develop the property as a Residential P.U.D. consisting of 182 Detached Single-Family Homes, in substantial conformance to the Preliminary Plat prepared by JEN Land Designs, Inc., dated 03-07-00, revised dated 05-25-00; and the Preliminary Stormwater Management Report, prepared by Manhard Consulting, Ltd., dated May 25, 2000; and made apart of the Petition. ## Make wedding reception a 'swinging' success with lively entertainment

The wedding day is one of the most exciting and memorable days in a couple's life. The bride and groom want everything, from the gown to the flowers to the food served at the reception, to be perfect. Most of all, they want the memories of the big day to be special.

The entertainment provided at the wedding reception is critical in determining the success of the event. The choice of music for the reception can make or break the entire party. Regardless of whether you use a live band or disc jockey, lively music and a personable bandleader or DJ can help build a mood and play songs that can get the guests dancing.

Hiring the right band or DJ for your wedding can be confusing. Asking good questions, knowing the right answers and getting all guarantees in writing will ensure the selection of reliable, reputable vendors. The following questions and answers, courtesy of Modern Bride magazine, can help you hire the best musicians for the reception.

1. Can I determine the quality of a band's performance by listening to a tape or viewing its video? If you like the sound on the tape and/or the way the band delivers on video, inquire about where you can see the group play at a showcase, an actual wedding or some other place where it is booked.

2. How can I be certain that the band I book will be the one at my wedding? It is essential to get the name of the band in writing on your contract.

3. Does the orchestra have liability insurance? A reputable company will maintain such coverage. Most reception facilities require that the orchestra furnish them with a certificate of insurance.

4. Does the band take breaks? Most bands take a 15-minute break after a 45-minute set. Taped music can be arranged during the breaks or continuous music (at an extra charge) can be planned.

5. Are there additional charges for traveling time, playing during cocktails and overtime? Probably. Ask about that at your initial meeting, and be sure that those charges are clearly stated in your contract and understood before you sign it.

6. Is there a surcharge or sales tax? There is no sales tax on musical services, but there may be some surcharges (i.e. payroll, transportation). Be sure to ask.

7. Does the band have an extensive song list with selections that appeal to a wide range of guests? A good band will be able to play a range of music that spans the decades, from big band to Top 40 to Motown hits, as well as ethnic pieces.

Will the band members wear appropriate attire? Unless otherwise noted, and depending on the formality of the wedding, members should wear black tie.

9. Is there a way I can be sure the amplification will not be deafening? Tell the bandleader or DJ of your concern, so if this is not a place where the group has played before, he or she can check out the location to prepare ahead for any acoustical challenges that must be addressed to keep the decibels under control.

10. Does the bandleader or DJ act as master of ceremonies and coordinate the sequence of events at the reception, and if so, should I meet with mine about this before the wedding? The master of ceremonies usually is the bandleader or DJ, and you absolutely should have an in-person meeting to talk over the reception events.

(How to evaluate multiple job offers - Part One) By Scott T. Fleischmann

In the current job market it is becoming more common to talk to people who receive several job offers at the same time. Although it is sometimes easy to evaluate the offers, there are times when the combinations of compensation, benefits and work conditions are difficult to assess.

There are two methods for evaluating. The instinctive approach uses our feelings to make the decision. In other words you feel better about one job than another. The other is an analytical approach, where you evaluate every aspect of the Job and make the decision based on which Job is logically better, I suggest using both approaches.

I am a very analytical person. However, as I get older I'm learning to trust my instincts more. We have all had experiences that have fed into our subconscious, and we have associated values with those experiences. So if you worked on a job with smokers when you disliked the smell of the smoke, being around smokers does not give you a good feeling. Although this may not be something you would think of in the analytical process, if you noticed people smoking when you went in for an interview, your subconscience would give you a negative feedback

The Criteria The first step in the process is to set the criteria on how you will make the decision. What is most important to you? Be as descriptive as possible and write down each criterion. Rather than writing "Salary" write "Making and hourly wage of $10.00 or more" or "Making as much money as possible". In order to help you start this list of job selection criteria; I have listed some topics for you to consider;

Medical Insurance Vacations, boliday's, and time off Work schedule, Overtime demands, etc. Training to get you started on the job

Team Functions The social aspects for the job Other benefits (Chiklcare, Health Center, etc.)

Education and tuition reimbursemen

These are only topics, not criterion. Therefore to make the work schedule topic into a criteria, you may want to write on your list "Work first shift, or at the latest noon to 9:00pm". Another example is "Have a flexible work schedule that will allow me to work the hours that are best for me as long as I work 40 hours per week." The Important issue is to be as clear and precise as possible.

Once you have this list of criterion, you will need to prioritize the list. This is the easy part. All you need to do is assign a number to each criterion with the lowest number being the most important. So number one would be the Item that is most important to you.

Next week we will look at how we can apply this criteria to several jobs. Scott T. Fleischmann is a Principal with Integrity Business Solutions Inc., a management consulting firm. He is responsible for the general management, human resources, information technology and sales consulting practices. He can be reached at 847-543-4328 or through e-mail at lbs.scott@juno.com
